ATTEMPTS TO KILL WIFE AND MOTHER; COMMITS SUICIDE

Mother-in-Law Blamed for What Charles Robinson, of Rome, Intended Should Be Triple Tragedy.

GOADED TO DESPERATION HE DECLARES IN A NOTE

Letter Written When Act Was Planned Advises Young Married Couples to Live Apart From Parents.

Rome, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—After shooting and painfully wounding his wife and her mother this afternoon, Charles Robinson blew out his brains. The tragedy occurred in East Rome at the home of a neighbor of Mrs. Robinson, who has been living apart from her husband for a year.

At the coroner's inquest tonight a letter was found in the pocket of the dead man showing that the deed was premeditated. He referred to what he intended to be a triple tragedy, and stated that he had been goaded to desperation by his mother-in-law's treatment.

He requested that the letter be printed in the papers, that his wife be buried beside him and that Rev. Mr. Chastain perform the funeral ceremonies. He also named the pallbearers for his funeral, and urged his brothers and sisters to take his two-year-old daughter and raise her to be a Christian woman. He avowed that he was not under mental aberration, but realized the full import of his contemplated deed and ended with the admonition to all young men to leave their mothers-in-law when they married.

Robinson went to the place of the tragedy and asked a friend of his wife to ask her to come over and tell him goodbye before he left for the west. Mrs. Robinson came reluctantly, stating at the time that she was afraid. They were left in the room together, for a few minutes, when her husband drew a revolver. She screamed and fled from the room. He followed, firing at her and she fell in the yard, wounded in the arm and shoulder.

Mrs. Jeff, the mother-in-law, heard the shooting and came to the door and her home to see what was transpiring. Robinson fired at her once, the ball severing a finger.

Robinson then killed himself. Both women will recover.

SUMMER WEATHER BACK AGAIN TODAY, SAYS WEATHER MAN

When the temperature reached 74 degrees at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and indications over the country gave notice of a continued rise, the formal confirmation of the breaking of the remarkable cold spell became apparent.

For today, the forecast is for fair and warmer weather and by noon the weather man believes that real summer weather with an accompaniment of straw hats and light suits will be once more on the bill.

With the change from cold to warm temperatures the weather made its final drop and like a candle that sputters into brilliancy just before burning out, the grasp of winter pulled the mercury down to 47 degrees early in the day.

This was the minimum temperature of the past twenty-four hours and was two degrees colder than on Wednesday and five degrees below the temperature of Tuesday, on both of which days the cold lasted and defied the rays of the sun.

Within a short time, however, the final snap of the midsummer winter was over and at 7 o'clock Thursday morning the thermometer registered 51 degrees and steadily climbed until 1 in the afternoon.

INHERITANCE TAX BEFORE SOLONS

Slater and Swift Will Present Bills to Raise Revenue From Decedents' Estates. Most States Have Tax.

It is certain that there will be a strong effort made in the legislature this year to pass a law imposing a tax on inheritances. Inheritance taxes have been proposed before in this state, but there has never been a movement so strong in that direction as will, in all probability, be made this summer.

Since the constitutional limit of five mills has been reached in ad valorem taxation the general assembly has been at its row's end in finding means to raise sufficient revenue to meet the pressing and ever growing needs of the state treasury. Before the ratification of the sixteenth amendment to the United States constitution, giving congress authority to lay a tax on incomes without apportionment among the states, the lawmakers were generally inclined to regard an income tax as their last resource of revenue rather than an inheritance tax, and hardly a meeting of the general assembly passed without the introduction of one or more measures laying a tax on incomes. None of them was enacted, however.

May Go After Inheritance.

It is not likely that the Georgia legislature will infringe on a province that has been pre-empted by the federal government and the solons this year will look on inheritances rather than incomes as their main hope and dependence for increasing the revenue of the state.

Many foreign countries and a majority of the states already have inheritance taxes. In fact some of the northern states derive a considerable portion of their annual revenues from this source. In New York there are about $10,000,000 a year raised by inheritance taxation. Other states which derive more than a million annually from this source are Pennsylvania and Illinois.

The southern states that have had recourse to this method of raising revenue have not found it as profitable as the wealthier northern states. North Carolina and Tennessee both have inheritance tax laws on some sort on their statute books, but the report from North Carolina shows only $8,531 raised in this way for the same last fiscal year on which a report is available, while Tennessee for the same year shows a blank.

Only a few of the states tax direct inheritances, the chief of these being New York. In most of the states provision is made for inheritance taxation only when there are no lineal heirs or husband or wife surviving.

Two Bills Introduced.

Two members of the house have already signified their intention of introducing inheritance tax bills this year. They are Representatives W. P. Slater, of Bryan county, and H. H. Swift, of Muscogee. Mr. Slater's bill will provide for a tax only on collateral inheritances, leaving direct inheritances exempt. He argues that, as the state or the people have in many ways added to the value of estates and protected the holder in his right of property, it is nothing but fair that the state, at the death of the holder with out children, should be an heir-at-law.

Mr. Swift's bill is said to be much more sweeping than Mr. Slater's, and imposes a tax on all inheritances in excess of $1,000.

Time Ripe, Says Wright.

Comptroller General W. A. Wright does not think that the time is quite ripe in Georgia for the imposition of an inheritance tax. When questioned as to his views on the subject Thursday he said:

"While these tax laws may work all right in states where large estates are numerous, such as some of the states of the north, I hardly think we are ready for such a tax in Georgia, as we ought not to discourage thrift or put anything in the way of the transmission of a man's property to his children.

"I certainly would object to the imposition of a tax on small inheritances. If we should have such a law I would not begin with estates of less than $50,000. Then the tax should be light and increase gradually with the size of the inheritance. I would like, however, to hear a general expression of opinion on the subject through the press."

BOY IN KNEE PANTS SENT TO STATE PRISON

Aurora, Ill., June 12.—A boy in knee pants who looked like the average boy of 12 to 15 years old stopped in Aurora today on his way to the Joliet penitentiary, where, just after 10 o'clock, he began a life term for the recent murder of a woman and two babies.

The boy was Herman Copper, 14 years old, who last April shot and killed Mrs. Mannie Sleet at her farm home, in East Plato, near Elgin, and brained her two children, a boy of two years, and a girl of four.

Joliet, Ill., June 12.—Herman Copper, the 14-year-old murderer of Mrs. Mannie Sleep, arrived at the penitentiary this morning and was given his first shave and first pair of long trousers. He appeared unconcerned.

He was placed in solitary confinement for today on bread and water. To what occupation he will be assigned has not been determined.

GRAPE JUICE FOR BRYAN IN EUCALYPTUS CASE

Washington, June 12.—A delegation of Richmond, Cal., business men called on Secretary Bryan at the state department today and presented him with a quantity of California grape juice in an eucalyptus wood case with a silver inscription plate. The secretary said Mrs. Bryan made the best grape juice in the world, but that he would be delighted to try the California article. The Richmonders, who are here seeking approval of a harbor extension project, also called on Secretary Lane during the day and tonight gave a banquet to the California delegation in congress.

DEFIANCE GIVEN SENATE PROBERS BY GOV. HATFIELD

MARTIAL LAW RAISED IN THE STRIKE DISTRICT

Gov. Hatfield States That He Inherited the Trouble From Predecessor—Senators See Bullet-Riddled Cabins.

Charleston, W. Va., June 12.—Governor Hatfield of West Virginia tonight declined to submit to the senate mine strike committee the records of the trials before the military commission which took charge of the strike-ridden district of the state during the trouble this spring. In a letter to the committee the governor said that the findings of the commission in these cases had never been approved, the men had been released and he desired to keep the records for use in seeking indictments in the civil courts. To make them public at this time he said would be "prejudicial to the public peace."

The Letter of the Governor.

Governor Hatfield's letter was presented to the committee at tonight's session.

"My attention has been called by the adjutant-general," said the letter, "to a supposed demanding military records and commission reports.

"With reference to the strike, I was inducted into office March 4 and as to conditions prior to that time I have knowledge only through the newspapers. Under my predecessor, military law was established in the strike district three times. A commission was in existence when I came into office and about eighty prisoners were in jail. I wanted peace and harmony, as the situation seemed threatening.

"With reference to the papers now in his hands he said he had 'never approved them, and had ordered all of the prisoners released despite the fact that I had independent evidence in the nature of voluntary confessions in the case of some. But for reasons of prudence, I ordered the discharge of all. My object was to restore law and order. I have been successful, as both sides have made mutual concessions."

The committee probably will make no further efforts to secure the records of these trials.

Martial Law Is Lifted.

Governor Hatfield tonight issued a proclamation raising martial law in the strike districts. The committee was informed. The last few soldiers left in the field were re-called. At a conference between the governor and officials of Kanawha county, it was decided that the district was quiet enough to warrant lifting the militia rule, which had been instituted by former Governor Glasscock on February 10.

Judge Advocate General George S. Wallace, legal authority of the military commissions in the strike zone, defended their conduct before the committee.

"We had the right to sentence an offender to death," he said. "Under whatever law the commander-in-chief of the forces of the state prescribed. My contention is that in the conduct of war the commander-in-chief of the forces makes the law. The governor, when he declared martial law, recognized that the constitution had been suspended on Paint and Cabin creeks, and he sent us there to restore it. We exercise war powers, that is all."

Under cross examination Judge Wallace said he was paid a $5,000 fee for defending the military commission cases taken up by the supreme court of appeals of the state.

Warden Martin L. Brown, of the state penitentiary, testified that military prisoners were treated the same as civil court prisoners.

The committee then heard several miners, who said they had been prevented by mine guards from getting their mail.

Senators Visit Mining Camps.

Among the little miners' cabins in the nook and crannies of the West Virginia mountains, the United States senate subcommittee today sought the truth about the strike which has disrupted the state for more than a year. All day long a special train carrying the senators visited the mining camps in Paint Creek and Cabin Creek.

Groups of mountain men and women, with their children about them, were

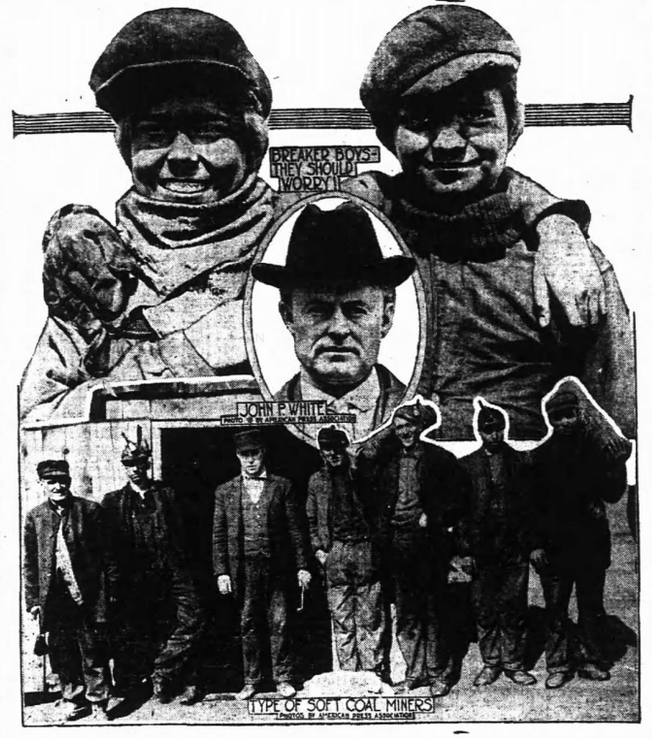
Investigating Strike Conditions in West Virginia



Keen interest was focussed upon Charleston, W. Va., because of the indictment in the federal district court of John P. White, president, and eighteen other officials of the United Mine Workers of America and because of the senate inquiry into the conditions in the soft coal fields of that state. The senate investigation, which was scheduled to begin June 10, was for the moment overshadowed in general interest by the action against the miners' officials. It was charged that White and the others conspired to restrict trade by their unionizing activities in the Paint and Cabin Creek districts in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. It was stated at Washington that United States Attorney General McReynolds did not know that the action was being brought, but after the indictments had been made public attention was at once directed to the stand the administration would take on the matter. The fact that it was the first criminal or civil action against labor organization to be brought in a federal court under the Wilson administration was seized upon as a possible indication of the policy of the president toward prosecuting these organizations on allegations that they operated in restraint of trade. It became apparent that the presentment of the mine workers' officials resulted from action on the part of United States District Attorney Waugh, of West Virginia, taken voluntarily and without consultation with officials of the department of justice. The nineteen officials are charged in the indictment with having entered into a conspiracy to regulate the price of coal from the West Virginia fields which was to compete with the product of the mines of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois in the Canadian market. The mine owners of West Virginia employ about 70,000 laborers, only a small percentage of whom, it is said, are members of the union.

WOULD ABANDON CAR LINES ON IVY

Street Railway Agrees to the City's Suggestion Provided It Is Allowed Use of Piedmont Avenue.

Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company, appeared before the railways committee of council yesterday afternoon, and agreed to abandon Ivy street from Decatur to the junction provided the city allowed his corporation a franchise to operate on Piedmont avenue.

The proposition seemed to meet with the approval of a majority of the members of the committee, and the only possible which looms up is the possible opposition of the residents and property owners of Piedmont. The committee appointed Councilman George H. Boynton, chairman of the committee, to go into the matter with the Piedmont avenue people, and make a report to council at an early date.

It was not the suggestion of the Georgia Railway and Power company that Ivy street be abandoned as a street car line. The scheme was put forth by the city shortly after the Ivy street regrading and paving became a possibility. President Arkwright was consulted and he agreed that it would be a good idea of making an unobstructed boulevard of Ivy street, and gave his consent to co-operate with the city provided some scheme could be worked out to take care of the street car traffic.

Property Owners Object.

It is understood that property owners on Piedmont avenue from Decatur to Gilmer street have already objected to the city granting the railway company a franchise to put down a ride or switch track from the Auditorium.

President Arkwright told the committee of the objections Thursday afternoon, and explained that since the railroad commission of Georgia had secured the consent of the company to put on more cars, the added facility of the Piedmont loop will do a great deal towards giving the city a better service.

Piedmont property owners point out that the section which the car company intends to use is in the business district, and that cars running through will interfere with teams and vehicles.

Chilly at Tampa.

Tampa, Fla., June 12.—The cold wave reached Tampa today with a temperature of 63 degrees, being the coldest June 12 in the history of this city. Four times before a temperature of 64 has been registered in June, but never before has 63 been reached. There is no suffering.

If All These Things Happen Then Look at the Calendar

If you get up this morning and find that the cook has failed to show up and you have to get breakfast down town—

If you find that your automobile won't crank and after waiting twenty minutes for a street car learn that the trolley wire is down and you have at last to trudge that mile to town—

If you find when you get there that the waiters have gone on a strike in all the restaurants and you have to make an eggflipp at the soda fountain answer for breakfast—

If, when you at length arrive at your office you suddenly remember that you left your office key lying on the dresser at home—

If you send a messenger after it and your wife can't find it, and when you finally climb through the window and open the door from the inside your stenographer telephones that she is sick and won't be down to work;

If, by afternoon, things have gone so dead wrong that you decide to go to the ball game, and about the time you take your seat in the grandstand it begins to rain and the game is calle off—

If you start home to supper then and find you have forgotten your car fare, and if that night you try to forget your troubles at the theater and find the show is rotten—

Then, if all this happens to you today, don't go to bed "cussing" yourself for the unluckiest gink that ever had a black cat to cross his path, but just take a squint at the calendar, and thank your stars that you are still living!

For today is Friday, the thirteenth day of the sixth month of the thirteenth year of this century!

You had better put a rabbit's foot in your pocket and make a cross mark with your left up this Friday morning, June 13, 1913.

DICTAGRAPH FAVORED BY CHIEFS OF POLICE

As a Means of Detecting Crime. One Chief Also Urges Woman Suffrage.

Washington, June 12.—Woman suffrage as a means of lessening crime was advocated here today by C. E. Sebastian, chief of police of Los Angeles, Cal., in an address before the closing session of the annual convention of the International Association of Police Chiefs. Chief Sebastian declared that "through suffrage recognition of police wom Los Angeles had been obtained and crime had been materially reduced." Suffrage, he added, had helped to break down the false modesty which had prevented public discussion of sex problems.

President, Major Richard Sylvester, Washington, superintendent of police; first vice president, Chief Michael Regan, Buffalo, N. Y.; second vice president, Chief A. P. Sherwood, Ottawa, Can.; secretary-treasurer, Harvey O. Carr, Grand Rapids; sergeant-at-arms, Chief Cassidy, Elmira, N. Y. All were re-elected except the sergeant-at-arms.

Dictagraphic devices as means of helping in the detection of crime were approved in a resolution adopted during the final session.

Juan Yucatich, chief of the Buenos Aires, Argentina, Bureau of Dactyloscopic Identification, explained to the convention his system of finger print registration, and a committee was named to study and report on this compared with other systems.

HIS LITTLE JOY RIDE PROVES RIDE OF DEATH

Lima, Ohio, June 12.—Andrew Drew, pupil of Orville Wright, volplaned to death here this evening in a blazing biplane. Drew was killed as a result of a desire to take "just a little joy ride"—his last words to his partner—in a machine he had not thoroughly tested. His partner, in a local school of aviation, J. C. Brabazon, had urged him not to make the trip, but Drew wished to try out the biplane.

He fell 150 feet. He was dead when Brabazon and several workmen at the Lima State hospital pulled his body from under the wreckage.

Drew and Brabazon went out to the aviation grounds, about a half a mile from the state hospital, during the afternoon, and Drew and his mechanicians set up the machine. It was dusk when they had finished. Drew was anxious to try out the machine and urged Brabazon, who had made several flights with him, to go along.

"Let's take just one little joy ride," he laughed, "and then I'll go and eat with you," said Drew.

Brabazon demurred on the ground that it was getting too dark to fly and there were no places suitable for a good landing.

The machine which the aviator used was the one in which Calvin P. Rodgers made the last lap of his coast-to-coast flight two years ago.

LOBBYISTS USED SENATE FRANKS IN SUGAR FIGHT

Millions of Arguments for Protection Turned Out by Federal Printing Office and Sent Free Through Mails.

SENATOR LODGE KIND TO BEET SUGAR MEN

Even Allowed His Speeches to Be Changed to Suit the Opponents of Free Sugar. Agent Shows Temper.

Washington, June 12.—How the government printing office and the postoffice department helped in the fight against free sugar through the use of congressional franks for sending anti-free sugar "literature" circulating throughout the land was brought out today by the senate lobby investigators.

Truman G. Palmer, Washington representative of the United States Beet Sugar industry on the stand the entire day and the object of a sweeping cross examination, testified that more than 1,500,000 copies of arguments in behalf of beet sugar had been turned out by the government printing office, made public documents by order of congress and had ridden on the franks of senators and representatives to the ends of the country, postage free.

Lodge Gave His Frank.

"Sugar at a Glance" prepared by him, in April, had attained a circulation of 320,000 copies under the frank of Senator Lodge. "Report of the Finance Committee" by the same senator had beaten the pamphlet by 80,000 copies.

The franks of Senator Smoot, former Senators Curtis and Dick and the late Representative Mailby, former Representative Pickett and Representative Martin had swelled the total to more than $1,500,000. The printing of some of these had been paid for by the beet sugar people, the witness said, but the free postage had saved them about $28,000.

Mr. Palmer developed that "Sugar at a Second Glance," which he intimated was inspired by the Havemeyer sugar refining company, and which was an argument in behalf of free sugar, had also been printed as a public document and circulated under the franking privilege. He did not say nor did the committee ask why the frank was so used.

$160,000 Spent by Sugar Men.

Mr. Palmer said that the beet men had spent about $160,000 in their campaign against free sugar since 1902. About $50,000 had been used since last November and about $14,000 of that amount since the beginning of the present session of congress. Most of it had been spent in "publicity work," in printing, salaries and a good sized sum in motion pictures. He said that the beet growers in his association were assessed 5 cents per ton, he thought. The last assessment was made in April, bringing in about $18,000, and the previous one in February, $17,000.

"Why did you make those assessments?" asked Senator Reed.

"When we needed the money."

Much of the day was spent by the committee in trying to find out all the details of how "Sugar at a Glance" came to be printed as a public document.

Although Mr. Palmer was grilled for three hours on practically nothing else, when he left the stand committeemen said they were about as much in the dark as they were when the pamphlet was first mentioned.

Palmer said that when Senator Lodge made a speech on sugar in July, 1912, the charts subsequently used in the pamphlet were on the walls of the senate chamber. Senator Lodge secured the permission of the senate to have them printed as a public document.

Lobbyist Acted for Senator.

Accompanying these charts, Mr. Palmer declared, were certain printed sheets containing sugar information. Questioned by members of the committee the witness said that after the charts had been sent to the government printing office and proofs in black and white had been made of them, he had discovered they were not suitable for publication. He had, therefore, sent them to a private printing concern and had them prepared in a fashion he thought suitable. This, he maintained, was done with the knowledge of Senator Lodge and he considered that he was acting for this senator in the matter.

Members of the committee expressed surprise that anyone should in any way change something authorized to be printed by the senate. They developed that permission was secured by Senator Lodge for printing on July 27, and that one of several issues of "Sugar at a Glance" referred to an order of the senate on August 1, in the same matter.

The second order referred to data prepared by Truman G. Palmer and purported to be signed by Charles G. Bennett, then secretary of the senate. Mr. Palmer said he supposed that the order had been made and that he got it in the proofs of the charts from the printing office. The Congressional Record of August 1, according to Senator Cummings, showed no such order, nor did the journal of the senate nor the files in its document room.

Denies There Was Substerfuge.

"You substituted at the government printing office the document you received from the clerk of the senate this privately printed copy?" said Senator Reed.

"I don't think that is a fair statement," said Palmer. "There was no substerfuge. There was nothing underhand. No one was deceived. All was open and above board."

"I want to find out about this," said Senator Cummins. "It is a rather serious matter to forge a signature of the secretary of the senate to an order that never was made."

The committee finally dropped the question with the expressed determination to pursue it further and investigate books and records of every kind to get the information they seek. Senator Lodge will be heard in explanation if he desires to appear.

Chairman Overman announced that officials of the government printing office would be summoned to tell how such a document had been sent to private hands for revision and that if Senator Lodge wished to testify he would be allowed to do so.

"The mailing of this document I find would cost 5 cents," said Senator Reed "and you therefore saved $16,000 for your employers."

"I'm very glad to know it," replied Palmer.

Mr. Palmer, frequently referred to in the hearings as "the best posted man" of the beet sugar forces, testified he had been in Washington since 1902, when he came here to oppose the Cuban reciprocity bill.

To Look After Legislation.

Palmer gave a long list of members of the association he represents, which has for its object the promotion of the beet sugar industry. Part of the work of "promotion" was to look after legislation, he said.

Mr. Palmer said his present salary was $10,000 a year. Since the opening of congress in April he said his office had spent a little more than $14,000. Since he came here in 1902 he had paid out about $150,000. Since April 7 he had spent $6,314 for publicity.

About $10,000 had been spent printing "Sugar at a Glance," setting forth the beet sugar argument. It was printed as a public document.

"One of the objects of sending out 'Sugar at a Glance' was to maintain a protective tariff was it not?" Mr. Palmer was asked.

"That was one of the objects."

Under whose frank has 'Sugar at a Glance' been sent through the mail?" asked Senator Reed.

"Senator Lodge's," said Mr. Palmer.

He added that charts used in the pamphlets was displayed in the senate chamber when Senator Lodge made a speech on sugar last year. Senator Reed tried to find out that Mr. Palmer had made changes in the charts and matter accompanying them before they were made ready for distribution at public expense. Chairman Overman announced he had sent to the government printing office for the original charts.

Lodge Must Know.

The committee tried to find out who in the government printing office performed the work of getting out the changes. Palmer said he thought it was the purchasing agent and believed his name was Ferguson. He finally said if any changes had been made, they must have been with the knowledge of Senator Lodge.

"Isn't it true that when you had these charts redrawn that you added a large amount of matter?" he was asked.

"It is not," he said. "The index and introduction seem to have been added."

Senator Poindexter asked for permission to withdraw the name of former Senator Heyburn, of Idaho, as one of the former members of congress he thought might be in Washington to influence legislation.

"In naming him I did him an injustice," said Senator Poindexter.

Acted as Senator Lodge.

The committee continued to question Mr. Palmer in an endeavor to find out how "Sugar at a Glance" came to be changed. He said he had a letter from Senator Lodge to the public printer which he considered authority for the changes he made.

"You were acting as Senator Lodge?" asked Senator Reed.

"I was."

"The representative of the beet sugar people was acting as a United States senator. Was that your conception of your business?"

"In that case I added anything that I thought in spirit with the resolution."

"What do you mean by in spirit with the resolution?"

"Charts and data prepared by Truman C. Palmer."

Mr. Palmer read what purported to be an order of the senate for printing of such data as a public document, but Senator Reed denied that it was so ordered and read from the Congressional Record what he said was the only order issued respecting the Lodge sugar speech and the charts and data then exhibited in the senate.

Mr. Palmer became indignant at Senator Reed's efforts to find out everything done by the beet men in Washington. He said he supposed they talked with senators and congressmen. "I don't think business men are barred from the city of Washington," he added. "There is nothing disputable in talking to senators and congressmen. They don't live in glass houses. I have been free to tell them what I thought and to try to convert them and prevent the ruin which I believe will result from the passage of the bill in congress."

Mr. Palmer's investigation will continue tomorrow. The committee to night subpoenaed A. G. Robinson, of Washington.

Students Who Went to War May Yet Receive Degrees

Athens, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—At the first meeting of the board of trustees of the university this afternoon, which many members were present, a resolution was offered by Clark Howell, providing that all students who were pursuing courses of study leading to degrees at the time of the breaking out of the civil war or others who later left their studies to go to the service of the confederacy and were thus deprived of their degrees be granted their honorary degrees and diplomas.

As the lapse of more than half a century, it now seems certain that the few remaining students of this status will be recognized.

The matter was referred to the committee on honorary degrees: S. B. Adams, of Savannah; J. J. Conner, of Cartersville, and the chancellor.

FAILURE OF FRISCO TO BE INVESTIGATED

Interstate Commerce Commission Ordered to Begin Searching Probe.

Washington, June 12.—A searching investigation into financial operations of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad system, in response to a resolution of the senate, is to be undertaken by the interstate commerce commission at once. The inquiry will go deeply into relations of the Frisco lines with the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, lay bare inside facts concerning the purchase of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois and develop those pertaining to leases by the Frisco of subsidiary roads.

The resolution directing the inquiry was introduced by Senator Kenyon and passed by the senate Tuesday. Prior to this the commission had under consideration the matter of instituting an inquiry on its own initiative. Its authority so to do was unquestioned, but in view of litigation over the receivership of the Frisco lines and the distribution of the commission to inject itself voluntarily into a situation that already was in the hands of the courts, it was deemed wiser to await affirmative direction by either the senate or the house, or both.

Immediately upon receipt of official notice of the passage of the Kenyon resolution, the commission set its machinery in motion. Preliminary work was begun yesterday in New York by agents of the division of carriers' accounts acting by direction of Commissioner Harlan, who is in charge of that branch of the commission's work.

The inquiry will deal with all operations of the Frisco lines since the reorganization of the system in 1896. That will include its relations with the Rock Island; its purchase of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, with what are regarded as the "peculiar" phases of that deal, and with the acquisition by the Frisco of leased lines at rentals which are declared by those familiar with the into be extravagant and unwarranted.

Preliminary work in the inquiry will be conducted by the division of carriers' accounts. When its work shall have been concluded, a report will be made to the commission of all the facts developed. After that report the commission probably will issue an order directing a formal inquiry into the whole matter of the Frisco's financial operations. Hearings will be held and arguments heard.

A report will then be submitted to the senate with such comments and recommendations as may be suggested by the facts. If operations in violation of the interstate commerce act should be disclosed by the inquiry, the commission, administering that law, may issue an order in the proceeding or submit evidence to the department of justice. The probability is that the inquiry will extend through many months.

SYRACUSE CREW STARTS WORK ON THE HUDSON

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 12.—The Syracuse crews arrived here this afternoon, completing the list of crews here to participate in the Inter-collegiate regatta, June 21.

As is their custom the Washington crew took a long pull going down stream for a distance of about six miles, returning with the tide.

HEAT IS INTENSE IN FAR NORTHWEST

Winnipeg, Man., June 12.—Manitoba and Saskatchewan are literally burning up under the intense heat that has prevailed during the last few days. Unofficial reports from the southern part of these two provinces say the drought may have a deleterious effect on the wheat crop unless rain comes soon. The thermometer today registered 102 and 103 at many points. There has been practically no rain this season.

BEAVERS TRYING TO FIND GENTRY

Felder Says He Will Be Produced at the Proper Time. Notary Declares Affidavit Is Genuine.

Miss Jeannette Henning, the notary public whose official seal was attached to the affidavit made recently by George Gentry, has informed The Constitution that she took the statement from him last Monday, and that although it is genuine, she does not know its contents. She states that she had never met Gentry prior to the time he made the affidavit.

Chief Beavers, who has for the past several days been attending the convention of national police chiefs in Washington, is conducting a search of that city for the young stenographer. He is assisted by a number of detectives put at his command by Major Sylvester, head of the Washington police department.

Beavers was requested by Detective Chief Lanford to find Gentry, and to ascertain positively whether or not the youth had attested to the startling affidavit.

Thursday noon, Lanford received a message from the chief saying that he had located the private in Washington, but that the search would continue as long as Beavers remained in Washington.

Squad of Sleuths at Work.

Lanford is apparently worried over his inability to locate the stenographer. While the search is proceeding in Washington, the detective head has detailed a squad of detectives to try and find Gentry through the mails. While this search is being promoted, Colonel Felder and others concerned in Gentry's repudiation of the statement he signed Thursday that Gentry could be brought back to Atlanta at any time they desired.

He will remain in Washington for ten more days, it is said. He was given a position as stenographer with a business firm which would last for 30 days, after which he intended returning to Atlanta and resume his connection with the General Fire Extinguisher company, which has been employed for considerable time.

His residence in Washington, it is stated, is obscure, he having taken under an assumed name so as to avoid newspaper reporters and notoriety. He is seen but very little on the streets, detectives aver who have talked with him, and each afternoon upon leaving his place of work, he walks hurriedly to his boarding place, remaining therein throughout the night.

Located by Burns.

Before he was located in Washington, every agency of the Burns detective agency on the continent was flooded with descriptions of him in the effort to apprehend and verify the statement that the dictagraph reports were "padded." Less than two weeks ago a Burns operative of the Washington office, who had studied the missing stenographer's picture, saw and recognized young Gentry as he walked home on the way from work.

He was shadowed to his address. The operative wired Atlanta. Detective Miles is at the head of the Atlanta Investigating Bureau, an Atlanta concern, was sent immediately to Washington, with the result that he found Gentry and, boarding the car arranged an interview with the youth, and obtained the affidavit which created a city-wide sensation following its exclusive publication Wednesday morning in The Constitution.

Unusual interest is being centered in arrangements being made by the Fulton grand jury to investigate the affidavit and charges "frames-up" from both sides—the detective department and the men who claim they were victimized by the dictagraph plot. Immediate action is assured by officials promoting the investigation, as is the assurance that the probe will be deep and thorough.

Beavers Doubts Affidavit.

"Even without evidence of the records made with aid of the dictagraph," Chief Beavers told a Constitution reporter in Washington Thursday afternoon, "we have the testimony of Secretary Febuary, who was in the same room with the men during the famous conversations."

The chief appeared to doubt the affidavit's genuineness. He declined to express any opinion about it's authenticity, or whether or not Gentry had signed it. Also, he seemed in doubt that the "George M. Gentry," whose name was signed to the document, was the young stenographer who noted the dictagraph incident.

A humorous incident relative to the chief's connection with the dictagraphexploits, occurred Thursday afternoon, when the chief, in company with The Constitution's reporter, walked past the Raleigh hotel, in which the national chiefs are holding their annual convention. The chief was with a genial party of friends As they hove into view of the hotel, one of the group chanced to remark:

"You're considerably in the limelight this day and time, chief,—won a centipede race, disrupted a tenderloin and became the south's chief promoter of civic morals. This little instrument also contributed much to your fame, didn't it?"

With which the chief's companion laughingly pointed to a sign conspicuously displayed in a window of the fashionable hotel:

"Be sure to see the dictagrph test within."

Miss Henning, who took Gentry's affidavit, when seen by The Constitution's Washington representative Thursday, explained her connection with the sensational document. She told of having been called over the telephone Monday and being asked to come to room 802 Westery building, which is occupied by the Louisville and Nashville railroad offices. She was wanted to witness a legal paper.

"I met two men in room 802," she said, "and after going through the usual formalities, attached my seal to the document a Mr. Gentry signed in my presence. I accepted the usual fee of 25 cents, although the men wanted to give me fifty.

"I did not know the man, Mr. Gentry. Neither did I know the contents of his affidavit. I did not have time to read it. Immediately after affixing my seal I left the party in room 802. They seemed pretty well acquainted all round. Had I known at the time that the paper was as important as it has proved to be, I would have taken time to read it thoroughly."

Miss Henning is a law clerk.

J. P. BOWIE'S NEW JOB AT ROME IS HELD UP BY CLERICAL ERROR

Rome, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—A clerical error by a government clerk has cost J. P. Bowie, whose appointment to the Rome postoffice was confirmed several days ago, more than $100. The blank bond sent him for signature was for the position of "Postmaster of Rome, Rome county, Georgia," and he has been forced to send it back to the department for correction.

The salary of the Rome postmaster is approximately $10 a day and Mr. Bowie has been deprived of holding office ten days by the delay, with chances in favor of an even longer time, in view of the red tape connected with postal changes.

COL. J. A. BENSON DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Savannah, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—The remains of Colonel James Ambrose Benson, who died this morning at Bannon lodge, Thunderbolt, were taken to Washington, Ga., last night, where the funeral and interment will take place tomorrow.

After an illness of only four days Colonel Benson died suddenly at Bannon lodge, Thunderbolt, this morning at 1 o'clock. He had come here for a visit to the home of his wife, who was Miss Minnie Bannon, two weeks ago, but his illness which came upon him suddenly did not confine him to his bed until last Sunday. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Minnie Benson; one son, J. A. Benson, Jr., and one daughter, Mrs. D. P. O'Connor, of Augusta.

Colonel Benson was born in Ireland in 1845, the son of Georgia and Delia Benson. His birthplace was Ballysadore county, in Sligo. He came to this country as a young man and settled in Wilkes county, Georgia, where he was one of the most prominent men in that section. He was well known in Savannah, having visited here frequently.

Colonel Benson had to leave Ireland because of the fact that he had taken part in some patriotic demonstration against the English government. Before going to Washington, in Wilkes county, he lived in Augusta for several years.

His death came as a shock to his many friends in this city and throughout the state.

PRESIDENT WILSON TO INSPECT CANAL

Washington, June 12.—President Wilson will visit the canal zone as soon as congress adjourns, he told Colonel Goethals, chief engineer of the canal, today, but did not hazard any guess as to when that might be. Colonel Goethals said he expected to let the water in about October 1.

President Wilson expects to refrain from any attempts to organize the permanent government of the zone until the canal is practically completed. When he visits the isthmus he will not only make a careful examination of the great waterway as an engineering accomplishment, but probably will take up with Colonel Goethals the general plan of organization of a civil government for the zone.

In addition to mechanics to actually operate the canal, a large clerical force must be maintained on the isthmus to look after the measurements of vessels and the collection of tolls, the purchase of the vast quantities of supplies needed for the enormous fleet of vessels expected to pass through the waterway annually, as well as material which will be used constantly to maintain the work in condition.

Preliminary to the president's visit Secretary Garrison probably will make a hurried trip to the canal.

TO UNVEIL SHAFT TO PATRICK WALSH

Augusta, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—The program is about complete for the unveiling of the monument to Patrick Walsh on Barrett Plaza, in this city. The heroic figure has already arrived from New York, and will shortly be erected on the pedestal.

June 20 has been set as the date for the unveiling. The Hon. Clark Howell, editor of The Atlanta Constitution, and the Hon. Pleasant Stovall, ambassador-designate to Switzerland, will be the orators of the occasion. Other details will round out a program thoroughly suitable to the occasion.

The monument, which cost between five and six thousand dollars, is the gift to Augusta of the friends of the former senator and veteran editor, and has also been paid for largely by public subscription.

5 PERSONS KILLED AND MANY INJURED

Rear-End Collision Occurs on N. Y., N. H. & H.—Engine Crashes Through a Pullman Coach.

Stamford, Conn., June 12.— Five persons were killed and many injured, some seriously, as the result of a rear-end collision on the main line of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, opposite the local passenger depot at 4:46 o'clock this afternoon, when the second section of the Springfield express, westbound, crashed into the first section, which was just leaving the station.

Among the seriously injured are:

F. B. Jennings, New York; H. E. Patterson, Red Bank, N. J.; George Walter, New York; Allen A. Warfield, Washington, D. C.; J. P. Hamlin, New York; Everett S. Brown, New York; Margaret Broderick, Farmington, Conn.; F. M. Brown, Richmond Hill, N. Y.; J. J. Garrity, Hackensack, N. J.; J. J. Martin, New York; J. W. Houston, Roxbury, Mass.; Gregory Humes, New York city; Eleanor Plum, Brooklyn, N. Y.; H. Hummel, address not given; Mary Thompson, New York.

Crashed Through Pullman.

The engine of the second section ploughed half way through the Pullman car Skylark, the last car on the first section. In this car there were thirty-one passengers, and practically all of them were injured.

According to an official statement by the railroad, the indications are that the engineer of the second section ran past danger signals.

The Springfield express was the same train that was in the wreck at Westport, Conn., last October, in which eight persons were killed and scores injured. This wreck was caused by the engineer running past signals.

Simultaneous with the crash the wreckage took fire and the city department was called out. The blaze was easily extinguished, however, and the work of rescue begun at once.

Injured Priest Rescues Victims.

Early arrivals on the scene found Rev. Anthony Berbier, a Catholic priest, of New York, coolly directing the work of rescue. Although injured himself, he refused to go to a hospital until others, more seriously hurt, had been taken care of. Telling of his experiences, he said:

"There was no warning, just a smash and the next instant the whole car was topsy-turvy. Men and women seemed hopelessly entangled in the air, and there was a mass of everything conceivable flying about at random. They were likewise studies to accept the escaping steam and the hot coals from the fire-box that soon burst into flames. Women's screams of helplessness and terror, and the deeper cries of men, some in mortal agony, filled the air. The women were those who were lifted out of the windows with bloody faces and torn and cut bodies."

Engineer Disregarded Signals.

New York, June 12.—An official statement, given out at the offices of the New Haven road here tonight, said that Charles Doherty, engineer of the second section, passed both the distance and time signals, each set at danger, and was going fifteen to twenty miles an hour when it struck the first section.

Cartwright, the West Jefferson, Ohio, editor and publisher, who was charged with violating the postal regulations by doing a mail order business in obscene photographs and literature, under a fictitious company name, was found guilty by a jury in federal court here today, and was sentenced to a term of thirty months in the Moundsville, W. Va., prison.

PEACHTREE ROAD WORK STARTS SOON

That Peachtree road, the main highway for the northern part of Fulton county, will be soon put into such shape as to make it bear the heavy traffic from the heart of the city to the county line was guaranteed yesterday morning when the resolution offered by Chairman Shelby Smith to repair the road between Fifteenth street and Buckhead was unanimously adopted.

At the same time the board resolved upon the repaving of this stretch during 1914, making the present repairs upon which a squad of 25 men and a steam roller will be engaged at once, only a temporary means of fitting the road for traffic until it can be permanently paved.

The work of repaving the road from Buckhead to the county line is now going on and this stretch promises to be one of the finest pieces of highway in this section. From Sixth street, the old city limits, to Fifteenth street, where the repair work will start, the road surface has been completely resurfaced until it presents a smooth, hard roadway capable of sustaining the tremendous pressure of traffic, and within the city limits work is now being done on repairing the ruts in the asphalt.

New Bridge Over S. A. L. Railroad.

With the completion of a new bridge over the Seaboard Air Line railway, where it crosses Peachtree road below Deerland, the roadway, with a splendid pavement and with modern bridges will be in position to bear the passage of automobiles and wagons which it carries from Atlanta to practically every point in the north of Fulton.

The new structure will be of reinforced concrete and steel and will be erected by the railway company at a cost of $20,000.

The final plans of the bridge have just been approved by the commissioners and the road has announced that work will begin in a few weeks.

The matter of putting a force to work upon Peachtree road for temporary repairs between Fifteenth street and Buckhead has been under consideration by the commissioners for the past few weeks and numbers of prominent Atlantans whose country homes are in the northern part of the county, as well as others who live in that section, have been before the commissioners to urge the necessity of immediate action.

TO HAVE DEFENDANTS TESTIFY UNDER OATH

A measure that will probably be introduced in the legislature this summer that will be of general interest is one by H. J. Fullbright, of Burke county, to allow the defendant in criminal cases to be sworn and testify instead of making a statement not under oath as at present.

Georgia is one of the very few states that still clings to the old common law rule in this respect. Of course the constitution protects a defendant in his right to decline to testify against himself, but where he elects to testify, it is argued that the interests of justice require that he defendant should be put on oath and subjected to cross-examination just as any other witness

The proposition of the Georgia Railway and Power company to supply electric current for lighting and for running the elevators and pumps in the new courthouse was accepted yesterday at the meeting of the Fulton county commissioners, who at the same time turned down the company's bid to supply the steam heat service.

The acceptance of the first two bids and the refusal of the last, means that the county will install its own steam heat plant in the building and not depend on getting this from outside.

It was the original idea of the commissioners to do this, but they decided that they would examine a bid of the power company to see if they could buy heat any cheaper than they could furnish it themselves.

By the proposition accepted the county will get its lighting current at five cents per kilowatt hour with a minimum of $155.55 per month with a ten per cent discount if the bill is paid by the tenth of each month.

The current for the elevators and pumps is to be furnished at a rate of five cents per kilowatt hour for the first 2,000 kilowatt hours each month; two cents for the first additional 2,000, and one and one-half cents for all in excess of 4,000 each month. The same rate of discount applies to this also.

The company's offer for steam was as follows: 80 cents per 1,000 pounds for the first 10,000 per month, 60 cents for the next 10,000 55 cents for the next 20,000, 45 cents for the next 30,000, and 40 cents per thousand pounds for all steam used in excess of 100,000. This also provided that there should be a minimum of $888.88 per month, on the bill for steam.

TEACHERS EXAMINED FOR SCIENCE TODAY

Examinations of school teachers throughout the state will be held today and tomorrow. Questions have been sent out by State Superintendent M. L. Brittain to the county superintendents who will preside at the examinations.

On Friday the teachers will stand the examination for the primary license, and will take the first day's work in general elementary. On Saturday there will be questions for the last half of the general elementary examination and for English, science and mathematics in the high school test. The high school test in history and languages will be held on the first day.

The papers when finished will be graded by county superintendents as usual, but they will consult with the state department about the grading of high school papers. A large number of applicants for teacher licenses are expected to stand the examinations.

ONE STUBBORN JUROR PREVENTED CONVICTION

New York, June 12.—After deliberating twenty-five hours, the jury in the case of Thomas Duffy, police sergeant, charged with bribery, reported that it could not agree and was discharged. The first ballot was 10 to one for conviction, it was reported. District Attorney Whitman tomorrow will decide in the matter of a new trial.

This was the first of a half-dozen or more of the so-called police graft trials in which the jury did not bring in a verdict of guilty. Duffy was charged with taking graft from a poker room keeper. It is testified that he made monthly payments to Duffy for a time and prior to that to Eugene Fox, a policeman, who had pleaded guilty to grafting. Fox corroborated the poker room keeper's testimony.

NEW PEABODY BUILDING AT UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA.

Athens, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—With impressive exercises at the chapel of the University of Georgia, and a subsequent brilliant reception in the new building on the campus, around which centered the first activities marking the 111th commencement season at Georgia university, the new Peabody Hall was presented to the trustees and accepted by them Thursday evening.

Dean T. J. Woofter, of the Peabody School of Education, gave a historical introduction to the exercises. The building, now the handsomest in the group of edifices on the campus, is the gift of George Peabody through the fund he established years ago for the education of teachers at the south. The whole of the fund was used for aiding teachers for years, and a large part of it was employed in the establishment of the Peabody Teachers' college at Nashville. Recently the trustees of the fund decided to disburse its millions among the universities of the south, and the share of each was about $50,000. Though Mississippi and North Carolina have about completed their buildings, the Georgia "Peabody Hall" is the first to be "dedicated."

"The Function of the School of Education in a State University" was the subject ably handled by the principal speaker of the evening, Dr. H. H. Horne, of the School of Pedagogy, University of New York, who made a most able address.

Chancellor Barrow formally delivered the new building to the trustees in a brief characteristic talk, and the chairman of the board, former Governor Henry D. McDaniel, officially received the gift.

The elegant new building was brilliantly lighted and the large company repaired immediately after the exercises in the chapel to Peabody Hall, where a delightful reception was tendered the trustees, visitors and many local friends of the university. Refreshments and the usual round of social amenities fittingly closing the evening near midnight.

FORMER TAX RECEIVER OF DOOLY CO. FOUND DEAD IN COURTHOUSE

Vienna, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—Z. T. Penny, formerly tax receiver of this county, and for six terms clerk of the superior court, was found dead at the courthouse this afternoon. He had been in bad health for some time, and was subject to epileptic seizures, and his sudden death is supposed to have been superinduced by one of these attacks.

He leaves a wife and six children, one of whom is the wife of Judge W. H. Lassiter, of this city.

WOODMEN OF WORLD IN STORMY SESSION

Jacksonville, Fla., June 12.—After a stormy session which lasted all morning, delegates to the Sovereign Camp, Woodmen of the World, agreed that further differences of opinion in the convention should not be exploited in the newspapers.

When the session opened B. W. Adams, state representative for Florida, precipitated a lively debate when he took exceptions to statements contained in a published interview in which Sovereign Adviser Fraser, of Texas, was quoted as criticising the Florida delegation for its opposition to Sovereign J. C. Root.

President Root's work of the biennial convention will be concluded Saturday, an intermission having been taken until that time. Next week the camp will take up the consideration of new rules and laws.

THOMASVILLE GIRL ARRIVED IN SAFETY

Thomasville, Ga., June 12.—(Special.) The story published in yesterday's papers in regard to the non-arrival at Fort Worth, Texas, of Limmie Harville, a girl from Thomasville, expected there, was read with surprise by Superintendent Bishop, of the Vashti home here, from where the girl had gone, as he had received a letter from there last week assuring him of her safe arrival. The letter was from Superintendent Morris, of the Texas Children's home, where the girl had been sent, saying she had reached there all right and was at the home. Mr. Bishop fails to understand how such a report should have started.

COLDEST DAY IN JUNE RECORDED AT COLUMBUS

Auditorium for Waycross.

Waycross, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—That the oft-discussed plans for a large auditorium for Waycross will be carried into effect this year seems certain, in view of the statement from Chairman L. J. Cooper, of the board of trade auditorium committee, to the effect that no time will be lost now by the committee in perfecting arrangements for the auditorium campaign.

Maj. Richter Would Compel Mayor Davant, of Savannah, To Enforce Dog Ordinance

Savannah, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—Steps were taken by Major George H. Richter today to compel Mayor Davant to enforce the Barrow dog ordinance, pandemic millions among the univer- which was declared void by Judge Falligant in the superior court by Major Richter following a conference he had with the mayor Wednesday, when he says the mayor did not intend enforcing the ordinance, and asked Major Richter, "What are you going to do about it?"

The mandamus suit is the answer. It is based upon an attack that was made on Major Richter Tuesday by a dog that belonged to Mrs. McCabe, on Wheaton street.

Mayor Davant, as head of the police department, is called upon to show cause before Judge Charlton, on July 5, why he should not be forced to enforce the dog ordinance that was passed by city council last November.

Major Richter says the dog ordinance has been "openly and notoriously" violated for several months. He says no effort has been made to enforce it. On the contrary, he says, the mayor has been quoted in the public press as saying that he would not lift a finger to enforce the ordinance.

GOVERNOR'S ORDER SAVES WASH DEAN FROM THE GALLOWS

Fort Valley, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—Wash Dean will not hang here tomorrow for the murder of Tom Johnson, his sentence having been commuted to life imprisonment by Governor Brown, who acted favorably on a recommendation bade by the prison commission and by Judge H. A. Matthews and Solicitor General Ross, who officiated in the case.

TWO NEGROES ARE HELD IN WARE FOR ASSAULT

Waycross, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—It did not become known until today that Ware county's jail at this time houses two negroes wanted for criminal assault. Lee Lane, a Clinch county negro, is being kept here for the Clinch county authorities pending a motion for new trial. Lane is under a death sentence for assaulting a white woman near Homerville.

Rob Young, a negro 35 years old, is the other negro charged with rape. His victim is a 16-year-old white girl, the daughter of a well known farmer whose place is 8 miles northwest of Waycross. Young was held by the father of the girl assaulted. His condition is not regarded as serious. It is reported that the girl has identified Young and is positive in her statement that he assaulted her.

Builders Find Cavern.

Huntsville, Ala., June 12.—(Special.)—A cavern has been found in the excavation that is being made for the Milligan building on the east side of the square. It was disclosed by a dynamite blast and a cold vapor began to issue forth. An attempt will be made to explore the cave and ascertain if its presence will endanger the building that is to be erected over it.

JUNE FROST BREAKS ALL FORMER RECORDS IN SUMTER COUNTY

Americus, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—The appearance of frost here this morning was the climax to the unprecedented weather of the past few days, and broke all records, as no living resident had ever before seen or heard of frost here in June. Several farmers reported seeing frost which, in one locality, was sufficient to nip the young cotton, though no serious injury was inflicted.

Cotton fields are recovering today from the effect of the recent chill, and a few days of sunshine will restore normal conditions.

ARGUMENT IS MADE BY MRS. W. H. FELTON BEFORE U. S. COURT

Mrs. W. H. Felton, widow of the late Congressman Felton, of Bartow county, in the old seventh congressional district, and herself widely known throughout the country, appeared before Judge Newman, of the United States court, yesterday to oppose the condemnation of certain parcels of land included in the condemnation proceedings pending for months past against 32,000 acres of land situated in Fannin, Gilmer and other counties in the mountain sections of north Georgia, intended for a section of the Appalachian park reserve.

Mrs. Felton, as an heir at law to parts of the land included in the condemnation, was not satisfied with the price per acre fixed by the assessors, and in her argument so advised Judge Newman. Mrs. Felton was given an attentive hearing by the assembly in the courtroom, as well as by Judge Newman.

The condemnation prices fixed by the assessors named by the national government and the objecting property owners have been objected to by other owners of property, lands than Mrs. Felton, and it is probable that some of the condemnations may reach the federal supreme court before a conclusion is reached.

PROPOSED TOBACCO TAX IS DISCUSSED BY WILSON

Washington, June 12.—President Wilson let it be known today that he did not regard the proposal of Attorney General McReynolds for a graduated excise tax on ntobacco output as in the nature of a "plan" to remedy what the latter conceived to be the evil effects of the decree of dissolution.

Talking with the correspondents at their semi-weekly conference, Mr. Wilson referred to the proposal as "a suggestion" that had been discussed, and upon which the attorney general had solicited the opinion of members of the senate finance committee. He said, moreover, that the proposal itself had been discussed in the cabinet meeting a few minutes.

When the president was told that some democratic members of the senate had stated their opposition to the enactment of a currency bill at this session he declared that no such intimation had reached him, and that his information from the senate was that a considerable number of the senators thought immediate currency legislation desirable.

WHOLESALE REFORM IN APPROPRIATIONS

Washington, June 12.—Wholesale reform in congressional appropriations, to systematize government expenditures and reduce their total, will be urged at a caucus of house democrats which will be held June 25. Democratic leaders say they are determined to break up the loose practice of unregulated appropriations by numerous committees.

Under a "budget committee" plan agreed upon by Representatives Underwood, Fitzgerald, Sherley, Garrett and other members of the caucus committee on budget, all supply bills would be brought under a central supervision, based largely on suggestions of Representative Sherley.

The idea is to have a standing committee on budget to comprise two members each from the ways and means, appropriations and rules committees, and the chairmen of each of the other house committees which report appropriation measures. This committee would report at the beginning of each session of congress the maximum to be appropriated and the allotment of that total among the various committees affected.

PIEDMONT HOTEL WAS NOT RAIDED, DECLARES TAYLOR

A story to the effect that the Piedmont hotel had been raided by the police Wednesday evening, which was printed in an afternoon paper yesterday, called forth a most vigorous denial from R. Frank Taylor, assistant manager of the hotel last night. Mr. Taylor said:

"The report that the Piedmont hotel was raided last night is a baseless fabrication. The Piedmont hotel was not raided and never has been raided. I cannot imagine how the report got out, unless it was from the fact that we were compelled to eject two couples from the hotel here last night ourselves. This was done by our house detective and the police had nothing to do with it."

HARRY B. LAYTON DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Harry B. Layton, aged 45 years, a well-known newspaper man and secretary of the Tifton Chamber of Commerce, died at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday evening at a local sanitarium, where he had been undergoing treatment for some time.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Lewis Layton, his brother, H. T. Layton, of Pittsburg, Pa., and one aunt in Atlanta, Mrs. C. S. Evans.

The body was removed to H. M. Patterson's chapel, and at 2:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon was sent to his birthplace, Morgantown, W. Va., where the funeral and interment will be held.

Mr. Layton was one of the best known residents of south Georgia, where he had lived for the past five years, and had become a factor in the life of that section of the state. Resolutions of sympathy were adopted by the Tifton Chamber of Commerce Thursday afternoon.

For a number of years Mr. Layton was in active newspaper work, especially in the east. At different times he was connected with various Atlanta papers, and won many friends by his genial personality.

OFFICER EXONERATED FOR FATAL SHOOTING

Huntsville, Ala., June 12.—(Special.)—Officer Wheeler Mitchell, of the Huntsville police department, who fatally shot J. W. Gibson ten days ago, when the man was resisting arrest and firing at him, has been relieved of any court charge that was brought against him. Judge Hawkins, of the inferior criminal court, decided that the shooting was justifiable.

The evidence showed that Gibson was on a spree and had shot a negro through the neck when Officer Mitchell was sent to arrest him. Gibson was found in the old baseball park and when the officer approached him, began firing. He fired two shots at Mitchell, and then Mitchell shot him through the hip, the bullet circling around and penetrating a vital organ. Gibson died the next day and Mitchell was charged with murder.

MAY SEEK IMPEACHMENT OF JUSTICE OF PEACE

Eufaula, Ala., June 12.—(Special.)—It is reported that impeachment proceedings may be instituted against L. R. Salisbury, justice of the peace of beat 2, for his refusal to issue a warrant for the arrest of Holt McLeod, on a charge of assault with intent to murder in connection with the attack made by McLeod on Dr. J. L. Houston, at Comer, Saturday night, in which Houston only saved his life by pushing McLeod's pistol from his breast just before it was discharged. Salisbury refused to issue the warrant for Sheriff Teal, who thereupon made the arrest without carrying McLeod to Clayton, where he was bailed out the next day before the justice of the peace there.

Dr. Houston himself is one of the four on Salisbury's bond, in the sum of $1,000. Others are said to be Forest Grantham, J. L. Grant and N. A. McKinnon. Salisbury is also postmaster at Comer.

WOULD STRENGTHEN PISTOL-TOTING LAW

Bill to Restrict Sale of Cartridges to Be Introduced by Congressman Fullbright.

Pistol "toters" are in all probability going to find it hard "sledding" in Georgia when the legislature gets through with them this summer.

The committee of public safety of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce has been giving serious consideration to a measure very much restricting the sale of pistols and pistol cartridges by dealers, and now comes the announcement that H. J. Fullbright, a veteran member of the house, from Burke county, has prepared a bill to introduce this year covering the same subject.

Mr. Fullbright's measure is intended to strengthen a law which he and Representative White, of Screven, had enacted in 1910, making it necessary for a person to secure license from the ordinary before he shall be allowed to carry a pistol openly. This law, of course, made no change in the previous law prohibiting the carriage of weapons concealed.

As the constitution of the state guarantees to every citizen the right to bear arms, it is evident that the lawmakers have now gone about as far as they can in throwing restrictions about the carrying of concealed weapons, and that further legislation on the subject, if effective, must be aimed at the dealers.

Restrictions on Sale.

The Fullbright bill makes it unlawful for any person to sell or give away pistol cartridges except as therein provided. It then provides that any dealer who has paid the state tax on dealers in pistols and cartridges, may sell to any person authorized to carry a pistol under the law of 1910 and to no others

It further provides that each dealer shall keep a record of sales and make sworn returns to the ordinary once a month, so that it may be seen whether he has sold to persons other than those having the license.

It is maintained that this law will effectually do away with the carrying of concealed weapons, for only the man who has a license to carry a pistol openly will be able to get cartridges, and there will be no use of carrying a concealed weapon without cartridges.

PARABLES ARE SUBJECT OF SERMONS BY OGDEN

Delivering two sermons on the parables of Christ, Dr. Dunbar Ogden, of the Central Presbyterian, plans to portray the old truths in a particularly interesting light on Sunday in his pulpit. "Our Debts and Our Debtors" will be his morning subject, in which the parable of the unforgiving servant will be used as a moral drawn for the benefit of the twentieth-century men of selfishness who deny their brothers forgiveness. Sunday evening Dr. Ogden's subject will be "Christ's Call in the Market Place."

Narrow Brim Sennit Sailor

¶ The agreeable "rough and ready" look of the coarse braid sennit hat will keep it ever within the popular circle.

¶ The modish "sailor" style of this season has a high crown and narrow brim, with bow at the back.

¶ To emphasize the height of crown some bands are narrower than others, and such a small thing may regulate the becomingness of the hat. Either is good. Try 'em on and see for yourself.

¶ The quality is assured—they're MUSE hats.

PEACHTREE ROAD WORK STARTS SOON

That Peachtree road, the main highway for the northern part of Fulton county, will be soon put into such shape as to make it bear the heavy traffic from the heart of the city to the county line was guaranteed yesterday morning when the resolution offered by Chairman Shelby Smith to repair the road between Fifteenth street and Buckhead was unanimously adopted.

At the same time the board resolved upon the repaving of this stretch during 1914, making the present repairs upon which a squad of 25 men and a steam roller will be engaged at once, only a temporary means of fitting the road for traffic until it can be permanently paved.

The work of repaving the road from Buckhead to the county line is now going on and this stretch promises to be one of the finest pieces of highway in this section. From Sixth street, the old city limits, to Fifteenth street, where the repair work will start, the road surface has been completely resurfaced until it presents a smooth, hard roadway capable of sustaining the tremendous pressure of traffic, and within the city limits work is now being done on repairing the ruts in the asphalt.

New Bridge Over S. A. L. Railroad.

With the completion of a new bridge over the Seaboard Air Line railway, where it crosses Peachtree road below Deerland, the roadway, with a splendid pavement and with modern bridges will be in position to bear the passage of automobiles and wagons which it carries from Atlanta to practically every point in the north of Fulton.

The new structure will be of reinforced concrete and steel and will be erected by the railway company at a cost of $20,000.

The final plans of the bridge have just been approved by the commissioners and the road has announced that work will begin in a few weeks.

The matter of putting a force to work upon Peachtree road for temporary repairs between Fifteenth street and Buckhead has been under consideration by the commissioners for the past few weeks and numbers of prominent Atlantans whose country homes are in the northern part of the county, as well as others who live in that section, have been before the commissioners to urge the necessity of immediate action.

TO HAVE DEFENDANTS TESTIFY UNDER OATH

A measure that will probably be introduced in the legislature this summer that will be of general interest is one by H. J. Fullbright, of Burke county, to allow the defendant in criminal cases to be sworn and testify instead of making a statement not under oath as at present.

Georgia is one of the very few states that still clings to the old common law rule in this respect. Of course the constitution protects a defendant in his right to decline to testify against himself, but where he elects to testify, it is argued that the interests of justice require that he defendant should be put on oath and subjected to cross-examination just as any other witness

The proposition of the Georgia Railway and Power company to supply electric current for lighting and for running the elevators and pumps in the new courthouse was accepted yesterday at the meeting of the Fulton county commissioners, who at the same time turned down the company's bid to supply the steam heat service.

The acceptance of the first two bids and the refusal of the last, means that the county will install its own steam heat plant in the building and not depend on getting this from outside.

It was the original idea of the commissioners to do this, but they decided that they would examine a bid of the power company to see if they could buy heat any cheaper than they could furnish it themselves.

By the proposition accepted the county will get its lighting current at five cents per kilowatt hour with a minimum of $155.55 per month with a ten per cent discount if the bill is paid by the tenth of each month.

The current for the elevators and pumps is to be furnished at a rate of five cents per kilowatt hour for the first 2,000 kilowatt hours each month; two cents for the first additional 2,000, and one and one-half cents for all in excess of 4,000 each month. The same rate of discount applies to this also.

The company's offer for steam was as follows: 80 cents per 1,000 pounds for the first 10,000 per month, 60 cents for the next 10,000 55 cents for the next 20,000, 45 cents for the next 30,000, and 40 cents per thousand pounds for all steam used in excess of 100,000. This also provided that there should be a minimum of $888.88 per month, on the bill for steam.

TEACHERS EXAMINED FOR SCIENCE TODAY

Examinations of school teachers throughout the state will be held today and tomorrow. Questions have been sent out by State Superintendent M. L. Brittain to the county superintendents who will preside at the examinations.

On Friday the teachers will stand the examination for the primary license, and will take the first day's work in general elementary. On Saturday there will be questions for the last half of the general elementary examination and for English, science and mathematics in the high school test. The high school test in history and languages will be held on the first day.

The papers when finished will be graded by county superintendents as usual, but they will consult with the state department about the grading of high school papers. A large number of applicants for teacher licenses are expected to stand the examinations.

ONE STUBBORN JUROR PREVENTED CONVICTION

New York, June 12.—After deliberating twenty-five hours, the jury in the case of Thomas Duffy, police sergeant, charged with bribery, reported that it could not agree and was discharged. The first ballot was 10 to one for conviction, it was reported. District Attorney Whitman tomorrow will decide in the matter of a new trial.

This was the first of a half-dozen or more of the so-called police graft trials in which the jury did not bring in a verdict of guilty. Duffy was charged with taking graft from a poker room keeper. It is testified that he made monthly payments to Duffy for a time and prior to that to Eugene Fox, a policeman, who had pleaded guilty to grafting. Fox corroborated the poker room keeper's testimony.

NEW PEABODY BUILDING AT UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA.

Athens, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—With impressive exercises at the chapel of the University of Georgia, and a subsequent brilliant reception in the new building on the campus, around which centered the first activities marking the 111th commencement season at Georgia university, the new Peabody Hall was presented to the trustees and accepted by them Thursday evening.

Dean T. J. Woofter, of the Peabody School of Education, gave a historical introduction to the exercises. The building, now the handsomest in the group of edifices on the campus, is the gift of George Peabody through the fund he established years ago for the education of teachers at the south. The whole of the fund was used for aiding teachers for years, and a large part of it was employed in the establishment of the Peabody Teachers' college at Nashville. Recently the trustees of the fund decided to disburse its millions among the universities of the south, and the share of each was about $50,000. Though Mississippi and North Carolina have about completed their buildings, the Georgia "Peabody Hall" is the first to be "dedicated."

"The Function of the School of Education in a State University" was the subject ably handled by the principal speaker of the evening, Dr. H. H. Horne, of the School of Pedagogy, University of New York, who made a most able address.

Chancellor Barrow formally delivered the new building to the trustees in a brief characteristic talk, and the chairman of the board, former Governor Henry D. McDaniel, officially received the gift.

The elegant new building was brilliantly lighted and the large company repaired immediately after the exercises in the chapel to Peabody Hall, where a delightful reception was tendered the trustees, visitors and many local friends of the university. Refreshments and the usual round of social amenities fittingly closing the evening near midnight.

FORMER TAX RECEIVER OF DOOLY CO. FOUND DEAD IN COURTHOUSE

Vienna, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—Z. T. Penny, formerly tax receiver of this county, and for six terms clerk of the superior court, was found dead at the courthouse this afternoon. He had been in bad health for some time, and was subject to epileptic seizures, and his sudden death is supposed to have been superinduced by one of these attacks.

He leaves a wife and six children, one of whom is the wife of Judge W. H. Lassiter, of this city.

WOODMEN OF WORLD IN STORMY SESSION

Jacksonville, Fla., June 12.—After a stormy session which lasted all morning, delegates to the Sovereign Camp, Woodmen of the World, agreed that further differences of opinion in the convention should not be exploited in the newspapers.

When the session opened B. W. Adams, state representative for Florida, precipitated a lively debate when he took exceptions to statements contained in a published interview in which Sovereign Adviser Fraser, of Texas, was quoted as criticising the Florida delegation for its opposition to Sovereign J. C. Root.

President Root's work of the biennial convention will be concluded Saturday, an intermission having been taken until that time. Next week the camp will take up the consideration of new rules and laws.

THOMASVILLE GIRL ARRIVED IN SAFETY

Thomasville, Ga., June 12.—(Special.) The story published in yesterday's papers in regard to the non-arrival at Fort Worth, Texas, of Limmie Harville, a girl from Thomasville, expected there, was read with surprise by Superintendent Bishop, of the Vashti home here, from where the girl had gone, as he had received a letter from there last week assuring him of her safe arrival. The letter was from Superintendent Morris, of the Texas Children's home, where the girl had been sent, saying she had reached there all right and was at the home. Mr. Bishop fails to understand how such a report should have started.

Waycross, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—That the oft-discussed plans for a large auditorium for Waycross will be carried into effect this year seems certain, in view of the statement from Chairman L. J. Maj. Richter Would Compel Mayor Davant, of Savannah, To Enforce Dog Ordinance

Savannah, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—Steps were taken by Major George H. Richter today to compel Mayor Davant to enforce the Barrow dog ordinance, pandemic millions among the univer- which was declared void by Judge Falligant in the superior court by Major Richter following a conference he had with the mayor Wednesday, when he says the mayor did not intend enforcing the ordinance, and asked Major Richter, "What are you going to do about it?"

The mandamus suit is the answer. It is based upon an attack that was made on Major Richter Tuesday by a dog that belonged to Mrs. McCabe, on Wheaton street.

Mayor Davant, as head of the police department, is called upon to show cause before Judge Charlton, on July 5, why he should not be forced to enforce the dog ordinance that was passed by city council last November.

Major Richter says the dog ordinance has been "openly and notoriously" violated for several months. He says no effort has been made to enforce it. On the contrary, he says, the mayor has been quoted in the public press as saying that he would not lift a finger to enforce the ordinance.

The Fullbright bill makes it unlawful for any person to sell or give away pistol cartridges except as therein provided. It then provides that any dealer who has paid the state tax on dealers in pistols and cartridges, may sell to any person authorized to carry a pistol under the law of 1910 and to no others

It further provides that each dealer shall keep a record of sales and make sworn returns to the ordinary once a month, so that it may be seen whether he has sold to persons other than those having the license.

It is maintained that this law will effectually do away with the carrying of concealed weapons, for only the man who has a license to carry a pistol openly will be able to get cartridges, and there will be no use of carrying a concealed weapon without cartridges.

PARABLES ARE SUBJECT OF SERMONS BY OGDEN

Delivering two sermons on the parables of Christ, Dr. Dunbar Ogden, of the Central Presbyterian, plans to portray the old truths in a particularly interesting light on Sunday in his pulpit. "Our Debts and Our Debtors" will be his morning subject, in which the parable of the unforgiving servant will be used as a moral drawn for the benefit of the twentieth-century men of selfishness who deny their brothers forgiveness. Sunday evening Dr. Ogden's subject will be "Christ's Call in the Market Place."

Narrow Brim Sennit Sailor

¶ The agreeable "rough and ready" look of the coarse braid sennit hat will keep it ever within the popular circle.

¶ The modish "sailor" style of this season has a high crown and narrow brim, with bow at the back.

¶ To emphasize the height of crown some bands are narrower than others, and such a small thing may regulate the becomingness of the hat. Either is good. Try 'em on and see for yourself.

¶ The quality is assured—they're MUSE hats.

A PROPHETIC SHADOW.

"Votes for women" has crossed the Mississippi river in its victorious march eastward. That is the significance of the action of the Illinois legislature in passing a bill extending limited suffrage to women. Electoral qualifications are as yet restricted, but the chief point is that an opening wedge has been effected. In the course of a short time the women of Illinois hope to brush aside all conditions that prevent them from standing upon an elective equality with men. Governor Dunne has signified his intention to sign the bill, and it is hardly probable that the legislative movement to reconsider will succeed.

The people of the United States may as well make up their mind that universal suffrage is soon to be an established fact. How long it will be before the reform is effective in every state of the union, or whether through state or federal action, are questions that it is impossible to answer. Many decades of quiet but persistent propaganda have been required to bring the crusade to its present proportions. Even after the first state or two extended the ballot to women the cause advanced slowly. Now that it has attained momentum it may be expected to go forward with speed that far outdistances its records of the past.

Some students have been of the opinion that the south would be the last section of the country to capitulate to the woman's suffrage movement, the argument being based on the assumption that the south is inherently conservative and slow-moving in thought and action. That claim is open to dispute. There can be no question that there is already present in this section a well-organized and intelligent tendency toward woman's suffrage. Fortunately, it is being conducted with the discretion and restraint that are among the most powerful weapons of the southern woman. With regard to Georgia it is yet more difficult to set a time and conditions for the materialization of woman's suffrage. We have here, for instance, the contradiction in laws which permits women to equip themselves as lawyers, but which denies them the right to practice. That ban is, of course, archaic and unjustified, and if not removed by the forthcoming legislature will yield to one of its early successors. We permit women to practice medicine, a profession even more responsible than that of law. There is no reason why, all things being equal, women should not only practice law in Georgia, but compete with men in each other field from which they are not barred by physiological or other reasons.

We cite these facts as showing that in Georgia, as in every other state, the woman's suffrage cause cannot expect unhampered progress toward its goal. But that man who denies that universal suffrage is ultimately inevitable must indeed be deaf and blind to the signs of his time. The impulse is sweeping over the country like fire through prairie grass. No "back-fire" on earth can stop it. What strange and radical changes its fruition may portend in our government and our customs is a matter that challenges prophecy. But for better or worse a new and dynamic element will soon be injected into the electorate. The people and the politicians of the western states are already making their calculations with an eye on the feminine equation. And the people and politicians of the eastern states, if they are well-advised, had best follow that example.

A FUTILE TRAGEDY.

The sailing of the world's biggest steamship, the Imperator, from Hamburg under many of the conditions surrounding the maiden trip of the Titanic, is a reminder that the tragic loss of that vessel was absolutely futile so far as the enactment of preventive laws is concerned. It is true that the Imperator is guarded against the fate of the Titanic, as far as human ingenuity can devise. But the precautions were voluntary on the part of the builders and reflect no credit on the statesmanship of America. The Imperator has a double hull and is equipped with enough lifeboats to accommodate every member of the passenger list and crew. Other devices tending to lessen the chance of disaster are also in use. But had the shipbuilders cared to do so, they might have put upon the ocean a vessel that would at the first fateful opportunity repeat the cataclysm of the Titanic.

Failure on part of congress to put into effect the lessons of that great sea tragedy is an indictment of our law-making power. It is true that many statutes were proposed, but they were either emasculated in committee or never came to a decisive vote in either branch of congress. If life is safer on the ocean than before the catastrophe of the Titanic it is not because of governmental vigilance. Instead, we have to thank a militant public sentiment that has forced action on the shipbuilders, and the perspicacity of the latter in seeing that the apathy of the past would lose them custom.

LEST WE FORGET.

The ambitious jingoes who do not quail at the possibilities of our intervention in Mexico are respectfully referred to a recent news dispatch from the Philippines. United States troops are about to engage in a decisive and, possibly, a sanguinary, battle with the rebellious Moros under the redoubtable Sultan of Jolo. Eventually, of course, the boys in khaki will win. Almost any sort of battle will, however, cost a good many lives, and considering the sort of guerrilla warfare practiced in the archipelago, there is no guarantee that in a few months the work will not all have to be done over.

Such is one of the inheritances of "imperialism," and it must be remembered that in the case of the Philippines that imperialism was virtually thrust upon us. With negligible intervals, we have been fighting the Filipinos ever since. And just at present the islands would be a source of grave menace should the Japanese question take an unexpectedly serious turn.

Conditions in the Philippines would be aggravated in Mexico, if we entered that country with the expectation of staying there. The Mexicans are better fighters. They are more compact. Intervention would be the signal for a forgetting of all feuds in resistance to the common enemy. They fight with modern weapons. It is easier for them to get hold of both money and munitions. There is little danger, of course, that any level-headed American would approve a war of conquest if we were compelled to enter the republic to the south of us. For the other kind, the example of the Philippines is an excellent antidote.

IN THEIR OWN LIGHT.

If a dispatch to The Memphis News-Scimitar is to be credited, the farmers of Newton county, Mississippi, are actively aiding the enemy by a spectacular war against methods taken to reduce the ravages of the cattle tick. The state has a compulsory dipping law, meant to enforce the surest remedy that has yet been discovered for this all-prevailing cattle disease. Troughs built for dipping purposes are reported to have been dynamited in Newton county. A mass meeting of the farmers, according to our contemporary, also condemned the regulations touching compulsory dipping. They paid no attention to Dr. J. P. Reidy, a veterinarian of the federal department of agriculture, who told them that cattle from non-infected sections sell on the St. Louis market at from 1 to 2 cents a pound more than the tick-infested cattle. It is to be hoped there is some cause for this extraordinary action of the farmers not divulged in the dispatches. It is not pleasant to think that any of our people are thus dead to their own interests.

The cattle tick is perhaps the most formidable enemy with which the southern cattle industry has to contend. The state and federal governments, co-operating, have done much in the past few years to lessen its depredations. District after district has the quarantine lifted and profited notably. In Georgia, the work has gone ahead with gratifying speed and thoroughness, though the range of territory affected leaves something yet to be accomplished.

If the tick is to be eliminated and the indifference of the southern planter dissipated, there is no reason why the south should not develop a cattle industry second only to cotton. The land, the climate, the soil fertility and the crops are here. All that is lacking is the human equation. In view of these facts, the principal insect enemy of cattle should be ejected with as little delay as possible. The reactionary course of the Mississippi farmers can be explainable only by ignorance or by some local grievances not developed in the news items.

FLAG DAY.

Tomorrow will be flag day, or the 136th anniversary of the adoption of the stars and stripes as the adoption of the national emblem. A communication, published elsewhere, from Mrs. Sheppard W. Foster, state regent of the Georgia division, Daughters of the American Revolution, cites this fact. Mrs. Foster suggests that business houses and people generally observe the day by displaying the national colors conspicuously.

The suggestion is an excellent one. Atlantans and southerners are inherently a patriotic people. It is well, however, to give outward and visible signs of that inward and instinctive allegiance. The national colors inspire reverence, and their display is a good moral and mental tonic alike for adults and children. Particularly has the south this year, in view of a non-sectional democratic victory, reason to celebrate visibly its complete renationalization.

And Love to lead the lilies where your heart makes holiday.

Keeping His Soul Sweet.

Folger McKinsey, in The Baltimore Sun, sings of life's little joys:

"By little lips that love me,

To bless the song I sing.
By little laughter music,
By little dancing feet,
I keep my own heart dancing,
I keep my own soul sweet."

Town Weather Authority.

"Yes," said the local historian, "we haven't had such a cold June since the day the first Woman's Rights meeting was snowed out of town, and our representative come home from congress to prove that he hadn't done anything but draw his salary during the six months he was there, and the first town postoffice was opened for business and the safe blowed up and all the stamps stole that very same night."

Song of the Lobbyist.

I.

The lobbyist rises early and ever lingers late;
It's for his deep vest-pocket he wants to "save the state."
All the time a-swingin' on a senatorial gate,
He tells the world the way to run the country.

II.

But the country's got him going—no welcome wreathes the door;
The seed that he's a-sowing will bloom for him no more;
Soon, like a shipwrecked sailor upon a barren shore
He'll cease to tell us how to run the country.

Colonels by Compliment.

"While we were in Washington recently," says the editor of The Weekly Pioneer, "we met sixteen complimentary colonels, hailing from different parts of Dixie. We, ourself, have been in the complimentary colonel class for twenty years or more, and we felt right at home when we struck up with so many of the fraternity. Two of our oldest boys are colonels, but they inherit their titles, since they run quite naturally in the family."

Frank L. Stanton

A lock of George Washington's hair was sold at auction recently, but the Ananias club has never had a chance to bid on a limb of that cherry tree.

Fortunate for Ham Lewis that he retains so many signs of youthfulness—it would be such a blow to senatorial dignity to call him "Old Whiskers."

A flash of lightning cut a perfect picture of a star on a New Jersey front lawn. Always thought "Jersey lightning" was too wabbly to be so accurate.

South Not "Quarrelsome."

Editor Constitution: For several reasons the recent Mercer address of Rev. J. E. White challenges attention. Dr. White is justly rated as one of our strongest men.

However, the address carries in one or two paragraphs statements that prove quite unsavory to some men who wore the gray. Dr. White refers to the "quarrelsome passion on both sides" which led to the war between the states. Sometimes a party has its "quarrel just." I have read the speech of Judah P. Benjamin on leaving the United States senate, the speech of Robert Toombs and the speech of Jefferson Davis, made in the same period before the same body. We stand by the sentiment and logic of those deliverances. They carried with them an argument for secession that could not be answered then, cannot be answered now and will never be answered. There was no evidence of "quarrelsome passion" in those speeches. In precipitating the war we decline to be classed with the abolitionists as "quarrelsome." Circumstances placed us where we had to be men—real men or recreants to every item entering into the body of manhood.

Dr. White quotes Ben Hill as saying: "The truth is we failed because too many of our people were not determined to win." How many were so lacking in determination? Did Mr. Hill call the roll of the recalcitrants? Will Dr. White call it? Some things happen in this world that cannot be explained. Some things we are to "know hereafter." Explanation for the failure of the movement called "secession" has not yet been stated.

God dealt severely with Job. Friends offered divers explanations, but they were all mistaken. God spoke at last, but not in terms of explanation. We can not for explanations as to the disasters of the sixties.

When defeat came to the south, it was acknowledged and we went back immediately, or tried to, into our "Father's House," subjected to many humiliations, not one of which should have been saddled upon us.

The south played a part in what led to the war. It played its part in the struggle that followed. It served the cause of good government with signal ability in the experiences of reconstruction. And since reconstruction, we began anew to build out of a heap of ruins. We have wrought well. Look at results.

From the days of Henry Clay to this good hour, no adverse criticism can be justly passed on the attitude, spirit and work of the south. Dr. White speaks of "the arrest of southern national life. The limitation of southern interest for a half-century to the narrowing consequences of self-regarding and morbid motives and with-drawal from the nation's affairs at home and abroad."

If I understand Dr. White, the south is to blame for this. I cannot so see it. When we laid down our arms, we tried to take our place in congress and everywhere else and to do our whole duty. We were at great disadvantage and in large measure we could only do in part, where we would have done to the limit. No, we did not stay in our tents and sulk.

Quoting Ben Hill "The south believed honestly, fought bravely and surrendered frankly," and as a result we have nothing of which to be ashamed, concerning our part in events that led to the war, that occurred during the war and that have happened since the war.

TRUST.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

The human Soul craves Trust more than any other thing. Just as soon as you put Confidence in a man and convince him that you believe in him without a particle of distrust—at that very moment he enters into his greatest period of Efficient Accomplishment.

The best way to get the most out of any Friend or Worker is to Trust him.

Just as soon as an Employer begins to Trust and Employee—just as soon as an Employee begins to Trust his Employer—at that moment a strong organization begins. It is the same in the course of the Everyday. The people that we Trust are the people who Trust us. Mutual Trust is Mutual Happiness. No one can be unhappy or Useless who Trusts.

It is Natural to Trust. It is Unnatural not to Trust.

Human Life begins by Trusting. The Child at first Trusts everyone. Every happy relationship starts with co-operative Trust. The only thing that can mar or pry Trust from its hinges is Suspicion.

In the work of this day—every day—whenever you are tempted to Distrust, to Criticize, to Envy—bring this little word into use—Trust.

"After the Storm."

I

Like sky armadas we see them sail,
Silhouetted against the sky,
Great ragged and tawny clouds
In regal splendor drifting by.

II.

The lordly oaks, and princely pines,
Loyal sentinels bravely stood,
All undaunted while winds lashed,
In wild fury throughout the wood.

III.

The sun hid his wondering face,
And in a labyrinth's deep shade,
Shy naiads and frightened nymphs
Crouched trembling and afraid.

IV.

Comes from fields of clover and wheat,
The plaintive call of whippoorwill,
And "Bob-Bob-White" low echoing
From over yonder distant hill.

V.

After the storm, the fresh, green earth
Breathes anew, and Nature rejoices—
The old sun shines, and woodlands sound
With delicious din of sweet bird voices!

—AUGUSTA WALL.

With reference to the milk and brandy diet Bailey, of The Houston Post, smacks his mouth and quotes:

"If I had a cow that gave such milk
I'd dress her in the finest silk,
Feed her on the best of hay
And milk her forty times a day."

"It's an ill wind," etc. For nearly a week the weather has cooled the julep so that we didn't have to bow low to the ice man.

Just when one decides to send his roll for renovation at the treasury laundry the family asks for a trip to the seashore.

The World's Mysteries

WAS ETHAN ALLEN TRAITOR OR TRICKSTER?

Ethan Allen, the Vermont soldier of fortune, was one of the most interesting characters who figured in our fight for freedom. Allen and the Green Mountain Boys of Vermont are always associated with ideas of personal valor and unflinching patriotism. There was a time, however, when the loyalty of Allen was questioned. He seemed to be acting a double traitor to the American cause, or was he feigning to do so in order to trick the English? That he completely deceived the English is shown in a letter that was written by Gen. Clinton to Lord George Germain, in which he said: "There is every reason to suppose that Ethan Allen has quit the rebel cause."

But if Allen was able to trick Clinton he was not the only one among the revolutionary soldiers proficient in this art, for but recently in this series was shown how Washington had tricked the English general into the belief that he was going to attack New York, while all the time he was moving his army south, the strategy leading to the surrender of Lord Cornwallis.

It was probably due to Allen's crudeness that he was so frequently in disfavor, and which caused his patriotism at times to be doubted, for it seems that his love of excitement would sometimes carry away with it his good judgment.

Prior to the revolution the contest between the settlers of Vermont and the colony of New York became very marked, and Allen took so active a part in it that he was outlawed by New York and five hundred guineas were offered for his capture. He had suggested to the Vermonters that they would get rid of the New York surveyors who they declared were trying to take some of their territory away from them, by applying the "beach seal." By this he meant that they would cut beachwood sticks and would beat the surveyors so unmercifully that they would never stop running until they were safe back in New York.

Finally the revolution arrived, and Allen and his Green mountain boys, instead of fighting over their local differences, joined in the common cause of liberty. But even then Allen and his mountaineers seemed to be bent on working without orders. Early in 1775, with his hardy volunteers, he marched against the British forts on Lake Champlain. He came down on the fort of the British at Ticonderoga and demanded its surrender.

When he entered the fort and stood over the couch of Captain de la Place, whom he so unexpectedly awoke from his slumbers, he demanded surrender. "In whose name?" asked the British officer. "In the name of the Great Jehovah and the continental congress," was Allen's reply. It was not long before he had the whole Champlain region subdued.

His daring exploits so pleased congress that the "outlaws" of the Green mountain state were made regular soldiers. In October of 1775, he invaded Canada, and accompanied by a force under Col. Brown planned to storm Montreal. Brown, at the last moment, left Allen and the attack failed. Allen was compelled to retreat and was eventually captured by the British, put in chains and sent to London. He is said to have been treated with cruelty during his imprisonment in England.

He was exchanged in 1778, and as soon as he had recovered his health he again took to the field. The British tried to bribe him to join a plan for annexing Vermont to Canada. He pretended to be interested in the scheme, and had frequent meetings with the British agents. This led to his being suspected of playing into the hands of the British and he was charged by the government with treason. He was acquitted, however, through his demonstrating to congress how he had been acting a double part in order to preserve his state from the ravages of invasion. Congress accepted his statement, and, although there were many who doubted his loyalty for the time, yet he never lost his hold upon the people of his own state, who sent him to congress at the end of the conflict.

Allen was inclined towards literature, and published a number of pamphlets, one of which contained an open declaration of infidelity. To show what an odd character he was, this little incident is introduced: When his daughter was dying she sent for him; and said, "Father, I am about to die; shall I believe in what you have taught me or in the Christian principles my mother teaches?" After a moment of convulsive agitation, Allen replied, "Believe in what your mother has taught you."

INCANDESCENT LAMPS.

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

The incandescent lamp is a glass bubble full of brightness, which has ejected darkness from the homes of the civilized world.

This light is very simple now that someone has thought of it. It consists of a carbon hair in a vacuum. A current of electricity is compelled to crowd its way through the carbon, and the latter gets red hot about it, thus producing light and also enough heat to set the bed clothes on fire whenever any amateur scientist attempts to use one of these lights for a warming pan.

The incandescent light is not lighted with a match, but with a twist of the wrist. It can be turned on and off fifty times while the owner of a kerosene lamp is coaxing it to illuminate one corner of the general gloom. This makes the electric light so cheap that most of us ruin ourselves by putting them in every room from cellar to attic, and forgetting to turn them off. When a kerosene lamp is neglected it burns all its oil and goes out, but the incandescent lamp, which is not turned off, remains faithfully on the job, illuminating the attic day and night while the family travels through Europe.

The incandescent lamp has made the world sit up late and has increased magazine reading 11,000 per cent. It has dressed American cities in crowns, girdles and lace overskirts of light and has enabled the manufacturers of cigarettes and breakfast foods to sing their glories in the skies in 16 candle power letters.

If the incandescent light had been doing business in 1871, there would have been no lantern in the O'Leary barn in Chicago on a certain windy October night, and the O'Leary cow would merely have uncoupled her backbone while kicking at the elusive bulb instead of igniting the city with one well-directed blow.

Dangers of the Plane Tree.

(From The London Globe.)

Residents of towns where the plane tree has been planted in the streets in large numbers will feel considerable interest in some remarks made concerning that tree by an Australian paper, from which the following is an extract: "If you are planting ornamental trees beware of the planes. In the height of the summer's heat many people will be found coughing and sneezing, and, incidentally, blaspheming the weather and the season generally. What has been the cause of the epidemic? The victims have inhaled the emanations or ejections of the insidious plane tree. An English authority on forestry, Dr. Henry, takes the popular view to be correct, and another authority adds that as far back as 1873 the newly-installed German authorities in Alsace were warned against the danger. Nurserymen complain of ailments brought on them by contact with the mild looking Upas tree. A London paper brings classic lore to the theme of abuse. The ancient Greeks, we are told, were proud of their plane tree, which Xerxes much admired; but their great physicians were well aware of the noxious nature of the plane."

Flag Day.

Editor Constitution: June 14 will be the 136th anniversary of the adoption of the stars and stripes as the flag of our country.

Will you not assist me in my endeavor to have the citizens of Georgia pay honor to our national flag by displaying on all public buildings, schoolhouses and private residences, flags; in this small way pay tribute to Old Glory? Let every home, office and business house in the city hang out its country's flag.

Appreciating your assistance, which I feel sure will be given, I am,

Yours very truly,
MRS. SHEPPARD W. FOSTER,
State Regent, Georgia D. A. R.

Kansas Musical Prodigy.

(From The Philadelphia Public Ledger.)

A 6-year-old boy climbed upon the piano stool in a country home on Parallel road, six miles west of Kansas City, Kans., and thumped the keys while mother did the dusting. Suddenly mother's duster paused in mildair. The chubby baby fingers were playing clearly the soft, sweet notes of "Suwanee River," playing them as well as a visitor had played the song earlier in the day.

That night, over the dinner table, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hosp discussed the wonderful performance of their little son. "He must be a musical genius," they both agreed. In the end they decided to move to Kansas City and give the child a musical education.

The Hosps are living at 647 Oakland avenue, the Kansas side, and Master Melborn, the pianist, is 6 years old. Already a favorite as a performer at small music "by ear," he is learning his notes under competent instructors, and is practicing scales just as any other beginner in music. His training differs from that of the ordinary pupil only in that he is not compelled to practice. His teachers permit him to largely follow his own inclinations. They fear that rigid instruction might restrain his natural ability. The progress of the child is attracting the attention of musicians.

A Phonetic Bible.

(From The New York Times.)

Judson Jones, of Cleveland, Minn., has completed a translation of the Bible according to a system of phonetic spelling, which he devised himself. Most of the manuscript is being kept in a safe deposit vault, while the four books of the Gospels and the book of Acts are being put into type.

Mr. Jones began his work 21 years ago, when he was 56 years old, and he has devoted most of his time since to the translation. He has acquired considerable fame in his specialty of phonetic spelling, having originated a method, which eliminates all silent letters and substitutes. He is the author of the "Alphabet of Orthoepy and Its Application to Monosyllables," which was at one time the spelling book used most in the public schools of the state. Mr. Jones says that three dictionaries in this country and three in England are now using the system he invented.

In speaking of this speller, he prophesied that within 100 years it would be the recognized form of spelling. His publishers are confident that his Bible as rendered will, in time, come into popular use.

The Jones system of spelling has been in use in the English schools of China for nine years. The Chinese are particularly enthusiastic about the method, as making it easier for them to learn the language, which, to them, as to most other foreigners, is a difficult one to acquire.

GOVERNOR REFUSES BUNCH OF PARDONS

Large Number of Applications Thrown Back on the Prison Commission for Better Investigation.

A large batch of pardon applications were turned down by Governor Brown yesterday. In most of them some sort of executive clemency had been recommended by the prison commission.

To only two cases out of the lot did the governor see fit to show favor. These were Earl Overby, a white youth, of Macon, who had already served two years of a term of five for larceny, and John Lee Dixon, a Pierce county negro convict, who was in the gang for ten months. In the former case a pardon was granted, clemency having been asked for by the trial judge, W. H. Felton, and the mother and sister of the boy promising that they would use all their influence to keep him straight in future. The negro was a trusty, whose sentence was commuted as a reward for his having revealed the hiding place of a desperate escaped convict named Altman, who had threatened the life of a sheriff.

Sent Back to Prison Board.

A majority of the applications the governor returned to the prison board for more exhaustive information, he being not satisfied with that on which the board appears to have acted in recommending favor. There were several applications which the governor returned with the following note indorsed on the back thereof: "Named act without court record." On others he wrote: "Not sufficient data for taking action."

There was the case of a boy sentenced to pay a fine of $50 or serve eight months for stealing a ride on a train, in which all the data sent up to the governor consisted of a newspaper clipping and one short letter. This he sent back with this notation:

"There ought to be some record in this case. The judge surely had good reasons for naming this sentence."

Several cases in which the data presented seemed to be conflicting he referred to Executive Secretary Hardy Ulm.

One of these was the case of Jesse Sewell, sent up from Coweta county for bigamy, in which there seemed to be a doubt as to whether the sentence was for two years or for four. The commission had written two years on the back of the application and recommended commutation of sentence. Mr. Ulm investigated and found that, while there was some conflict in the record, the sentence appeared to be for four years instead of two. The governor declined to extend clemency.

Ulm Again Called In.

Another case was that of James Garrett, with a twelve months' sentence for selling liquor. The commission recommended parole. As it was a misdemeanor case, the governor did not know what the commission meant, it having never been customary to grant paroles in misdemeanor cases. He again called on Mr. Ulm. The secretary looked into the matter and wrote:

"Commission must mean commutation, as it holds it cannot parole in misdemeanor cases."

This case also the governor declined to favor.

Seven of the applications in which clemency was declined were from lifetermers who are in the penitentiary for murder. The others ranged through all the category of crimes, but many of them were for serious offenses, such as burglary, murderous assault, grand larceny, bigamy, etc.

It is a customary thing for a governor just before his term of office expires to be overwhelmed with a multitude of pardon applications. Those who push them feel that they have a better chance of securing favorable action from an executive who is about to retire than from one whose term of office is just beginning and all of whose first acts at least will be subjected to the closest scrutiny of the people. In some cases governors, rather than be bothered with making a close investigation of each individual case, have yielded to their natural impulses towards clemency and, towards leaving office in a good humor with all the world and have turned loose upon the community a lot of criminals.

Governor Brown is determined that no convict shall get by him whose case is not shown most clearly to be worthy of favor. While it is the province of the prison commission to relieve him of the preliminary investigation and to digest the data in each case in such form as will be easy for the governor to review, he is not relying on their recommendation, but will not act until he has satisfied himself fully that clemency should be shown.

Thirty-five young barristers, graduates of the Atlanta Law school, were snapped by a Constitution photographer as they were grouped in front of the superior court with Mr. McDuffie, who represented the faculty at the admission of the graduates to the bar.

After the proper oath was administered, Judge Ellis welcomed them to the profession, urging that they enlist in a fight for high ideals, sustaining the ethics of the law. In the presence of the associate appellate judges, Robert Pottle and Richard Russell, Chief Justice Ben Hill admitted the candidates into the court of appeals.

All of them stood during the remarks of Chief Justice Fish, who admitted them into the supreme court of Georgia, while his associates, Justice Lumpkin and Justice Evans, also standing, added dignity to the occasion.

A crowded courtroom greeted the new attorneys and applauded their admission to the superior court, while admission to the higher courts was solemnized in the chambers of the presiding judges.

FOR BOY'S DEATH DELL IS INDICTED

Must Face Involuntary Manslaughter Charge as Result of Automobile Accident on Peachtree Road.

E. H. Dell, who, on April 8, while riding with Mrs. Charlotte Brush, of the Peachtree Inn, ran over and killed little Adolphus Casey on Peachtree road, was indicted yesterday by the grand jury for involuntary manslaughter.

The bill charges that Dell was driving his automobile on the left hand side of the road at that time and that he was not using proper caution and discretion in managing it.

Mrs. Brush, who immediately upon the killing of the child boarded a car and returned to the city and afterwards denied having been riding with Dell, was not called before the grand jury. It is understood that she will be one of the principal witnesses for the defense when the case comes to trial.

A little boy was the son of Mrs. R. H. Casey, whose home is nearby. His father met death two years before in nearly the same spot by falling off a street car.

Alice May and Howard Casey, sister and brother to the dead boy, Louis Brown, a schoolmate, who was in the crowd of children returning from school, and Assistant Chief George Matheson, of the county police, are named as witnesses for the state.

Dell was let out on bond after a justice of the peace hearing at which he was bound over for murder, and this bond of $5,000 was allowed to remain as surety for his appearance at the trial.

$5,000 SUIT FOLLOWS AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Asserting that on May 31 A. H. Goodwin knocked him down with his automobile at Peachtree and Houston streets and severely injured him, C. B. Whitten brought suit yesterday afternoon in the city court for $5,000 against Goodwin.

Whitten claims that Goodwin failed to sound any warning to give notice of his coming. He lists his injuries as a sprain to his left arm, wrench to his elbow and injuries to his back and to his nervous system. He is represented by Attorney Edgar Latham.

"I have a business proposition here in Macon which will give me much greater financial returns," said Dr. Jameson today, "but I prefer the college work, and if satisfactory arrangements can be made, I will probably accept the presidency of Ouchita college."

The L. Carter company is a $100,000 lumber concern, and is only one of numerous financial interests headed by L. Carter.

COMMITTEE FAVORS SEGREGATION LAW

Would Stop Encroachment of Negroes on White Neighborhoods.

The Ashley ordinance, framed with a view to stopping negro encroachment in white neighborhoods, and which is commonly known as the "segregation law," was adopted by the police committee of council yesterday afternoon, and will go before the general council with a favorable report Monday.

Councilman Claude L. Ashley, author of the ordinance, headed a delegation of indignant citizens of the fourth and eighth wards before the committee. In a vigorous speech favoring the passage of the law, Councilman Ashley reminded the committee that all the people were asking was relief similar to that given by the legislature of California to the people of that state to stem the tide of Japanese invasion.

Negro citizens who appeared before the committee to protest against the ordinance, based their arguments on the alleged unconstitutionality of the Baltimore law.

"If doubtful if all the courts in the United States declared the law to be invalid I would still insist that council give the people of the fourth ward the relief they are asking for," Councilman Ashley replied. "The ordinance I have prepared has been declared by the city attorney to be constitutional. It is not as drastic as the Baltimore law, because it does not seek to prohibit negro occupancy of schools of churches."

Danger of Clash.

According to advertise who appeared to urge the ordinance, there is danger of a clash between the whites and blacks unless something is done. Eugene Mitchell, former member of the school board, and now a resident of the eighth ward, told the police committee that he knew the feeling in the fourth ward to be intense against negro invaders. He said that the time is near when negroes will be invading the Ansley Park, Druid Hills, Boulevard and Brookwood sections. He said the Ashley ordinance provided the only immediate relief.

"Instead of opposing the ordinance some of the so-called leaders of the negro race should be helping the whites to better the conditions," he said. "I know it to be a fact that Jackson Hill property has been ruined just by one negro buying a house there and forcing the whites out."

C. Green, a real estate dealer, said that whites in the fourth ward were incensed because they have been forced to give up their homes because negroes bought next to them or in the same block. He made the rather startling declaration that he was afraid trouble and bloodshed will result.

R. Lee Smith, formerly of the fourth ward, told the committee that he was forced to abandon his home when negroes invaded his neighborhood. He said there were a number of instances brought to his attention within the past six months.

"The Ashley ordinance should be supported by every intelligent negro in Atlanta," he said. "It will not only better housing conditions, but will harmonize the races."

J. T. Rucker, an influential negro citizen, said that council could do more by adopting an ordinance to prohibit real estate dealers from selling property in white neighborhoods to negroes.

STORY OF RACE RIOT PROVES UNFOUNDED

Savannah, Ga., June 12.—A special dispatch from Beaufort, S. C., states that Sheriff White, with Captain Townsend and a company of the naval militia, who went to Bluffton last midnight to assist in preventing a clash there which was reported to be imminent between whites and negroes, returned to Beaufort today and reported they found no evidence of a race riot in Bluffton.

The trouble in Bluffton yesterday was caused by the killing of a negro, who had been arrested on suspicion of attempting to assault a white woman. According to reports, the negro was shot when he attempted to escape from his captors.

Thomson Lodge Elects.

Thomson, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—At the regular convention of Thomson lodge, No. 231, Knights of Pythias, *held Friday evening, the following of*ficers were elected for the ensuing term: S. Gibson, C. C.; J. O. J. Lewis, V. C.; J. G. Usery, Prel; B. A. Mathews, M. W.; J. T. Ivey, M. of F.; B. R. Wall, I. G.; B. L. Evans, O. G.

NEGRO CONLEY MAY FACE FRANK TODAY

Hearing Before Judge Roan Today Will Decide Whether Negro Will Be Sent to Tower.

Whether James Conley, the negro sweeper, who swears that Leo Frank got his aid in disposing of Mary Phagan's body and made him write the notes found near her, will be held as a material witness in the county jail or turned free and re-arrested by detectives as a suspect and then kept at police station, is due to be decided at 10 o'clock on the hearing of the rule nisi before Judge L. S. Roan.

The question of Conley's liberty is not at stake, as the solicitor as well as Attorney L. Z. Rosser, for Frank, and the negro's own lawyer, W. M. Smith, all have announced that they desire him held.

Judge Roan has reached the decision that the negro should be kept at the Tower, where it is claimed that he does not wish to stay, as he asserts that he was intimidated while spending one night there after swearing to writing the notes.

Frank's attorneys desire that the negro be placed in the Tower where Frank, under indictment for the murder, and Newt Lee, held as a material witness, are now kept.

Frank May Face Negro.

It is possible the meeting between Frank and the negro sweeper, which detectives have urged for several weeks, will finally take place today when the rule nisi is heard, as Frank is one of those named to show cause why the negro should not be released and Solicitor Hugh Dorsey may demand that he appear in person.

Should the negro be quizzed in the presence of the man whom he accuses, his every action and look as he sees Frank's eyes upon him will be followed closely by detectives and by the solicitor himself, and a crisis in the case may develop from the meeting.

While it is certain that Attorney Rosser will go as far as possible in his attempt to have the negro held in the custody of the state, which means his incarceration in the Tower and out of reach of the detectives, it is not believed that he will speak freely or show many of his reasons for his claim that Conley is the murderer.

It is known that the greatest wish of the attorney for Frank is to get Conley out of the hands of the detectives and on account of this it is possible that he will show his hand to a certain extent at today's hearing.

Van Epps-Hanson.

The marriage of Miss Minnie Van Epps and Mr. Robert Graham Hanson, Jr., was a beautiful event of last night, taking place at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. Richard W. Johnston, on Peachtree road.

Miss Agnes Hanson, the groom's sister, and Mr. Charles Baumgartner, Jr., of Bristol, were the only attendants, and an elegant simplicity characterized the occasion. Rev. Dunbar Ogden performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by an intimate company of friends and relatives.

Little Misses Isabel and Parmela Johnston held in place the ribbons which formed the aisle for the entrance of the bride to the library, where the ceremony took place, and her brother, Mr. George Van Epps, escorted her.

Her winsome charm and beauty were accentuated by the wedding array, her gown of white brocade satin, point lace and pearl embroidery, with which she wore an exquisite pearl necklace which was an heirloom. Her tulle veil was held from a wreath of orange blossoms, and her bouquet was bride roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Hanson wore a white lace gown, her flowers pink roses, and the ribbon bearers wore dainty lingerie dresses over pink silk.

Mrs. Johnston was gowned in black chiffon cloth, and she was assisted in receiving by the bride's aunts, Mrs. W. W. Thomas, of Macon, Mrs. George Thomas, of Athens, Mrs. Carlos Hillyer, of Augusta, and by Mrs. George Muse, Mrs. Norwood Mitchell, Mrs. A. M. Thomas, Miss Ella May Thornton, the Misses Thomas, of Athens, and by the groom's father and sister, Mr. R. G. Hanson and Miss Hanson, of Bristol.

Artistic decoration prevailed all throughout the house, and the bridal party, grouped for the ceremony, had picturesque setting in an effective massing of palms with baskets and vases of white hydrangeas and feverfew contrasted against the luxury of green.

Supper was served from the dining room, where the table had a large silver centerpiece filled with pink roses. The silver candlesticks had pink shades, and the candles were pink. Punch was served in the pretty sun parlor, which was inviting with palms and hydrangeas.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanson went north on their wedding trip and they will make their home in Bristol.

The bride is the daughter of the late Judge Howard Van Epps, an able lawyer and jurist and through her mother, who was Miss Thomas, of Athens, her family connection is one of the most prominent in the state. Pretty and lovable, she has many warm friends in Georgia cities who regret her departure to live in Bristol, where Mr. Hanson is a prominent and progressive citizen.

To Mr. and Mrs. Halliday.

Miss Gertrude Corrigan entertained at dinner last night Mr. and Mrs. Stanford Quincy Halliday, of Spartanburg, S. C., who are spending a short time in Atlanta on their wedding trip. They are at the Georgian Terrace.

HOLMES MAY BECOME NEW PRESIDENT OF MERCER UNIVERSITY

Although no definite announcement has been made by the trustees of Mercer, who recently requested the resignation of Dr. S. Y. Jameson as president, it is regarded as probable that Professor E. T. Holmes, president of Gordon Military institute at Barnesville, and who formerly held the chair of Latin at the Baptist university, will be chosen to become its head.

This is the report that was widely circulated during the Tech commencement, although Professor Holmes appeared surprised himself at it, and declared that he had not been approached in the matter.

During his connection with educational institutions in Georgia, Professor Holmes has made an enviable reputation for himself. At Mercer he was regarded as one of the most efficient men on the faculty.

He was president of the athletic council and it was chiefly through his efforts that the university finally forged to the front in athletics. He was also on the board of directors of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association.

Since becoming head of the Barnesville preparatory school, several years ago, he has kept the standard of that school to that of any similar institution in the state, and many of his friends among Mercer alumni would like to see him head Mercer.

TERRIBLE AGONIES WORSE MISERY

Advices From Durant's Neck Tell of Mrs. Bazemore's Trying Ordeal, and Her Condition at Present.

Durant's Neck, N. C.—Mrs. Emma Bazemore, of this place, says: "Words fail to express my appreciation and gratitude for the benefit I received from Cardui, the woman's tonic. I suffered agonies from womanly troubles. I tried different doctors, but they didn't help. The last one I went to said I needed an operation, so I agreed to it, and bore those terrible pains. I felt better, but only for a short time, and soon the misery was worse than ever before. I began to use Cardui, and it made me feel entirely different. Now I am the picture of health, weighing 170 pounds. Before I started the treatment, I could not do my housework. Now I can do my work, and I feel so much better."

Cardui, the woman's tonic, acting in its gentle, healing way, upon the womanly organs, helps to restore your natural vigor, and to build up the womanly constitution.

If you are tired, worn-out, weak, nervous, or suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, do what over a million other women have done—try Cardui. It cannot do you harm, and is almost sure to help you, just as it has them. Begin taking Cardui today.

LAST FREE CONCERT AT THE AUDITORIUM

Before disbanding for the summer months, the Atlanta Music Festival chorus will give a big free concert at the auditorium-armory Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. This will be the last appearance of the chorus until late next fall, and a brilliant and elaborate program is being prepared under the direction of Dr. Percy J. Starnes. The final rehearsal will be Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, in the Auditorium, and all members of the chorus are required to be present.

This Atlanta chorus which is a permanent organization, was formed last year under the auspices of the Music Festival association. Over 7,000 people attended its first public appearance during Christmas week, and the splendid success achieved on that occasion was described in musical publications all over the world. The chorus is said to be the best trained and by far the largest in the southern states.

This concert Sunday afternoon will take the place of the regular weekly free organ concert. Dr. Percy J. Starnes will be the director, while Mr. Charles W. Sheldon will be the organist. The chorus numbers between 400 and 500 people.

FRICTION IS CHARGED TO TAX OFFICE SYSTEM

Alderman Nutting Would Put Tax Receiver Under Authority of Tax Assessors.

Because of friction in the tax office between the three assessors and G. B. Beakchamp, chief clerk and tax receiver, Alderman James R. Nutting has put through the tax committee an ordinance to amend the city charter so that all departments shall be consolidated and put under the assessors.

The friction which is said to exist has been noticeable since January 1, the date upon which the new system went into effect. Under the present status Chief Clerk Beauchamp has control of the tax receiving department, and the assessors have charge of the assessments. Alderman Nutting explains that the friction is nothing more than the result of a bad system, and he says that his ordinance seeks only to return the tax office to the conditions under which it operated prior to the first of the year.

The ordinance does not become effective until the legislature amends the city charter. It was adopted by the tax committee Thursday afternoon, with only one dissenting vote. Councilman Orville H. Hall protested against the proposed amendment, and it is understood that he will combat it on the floor of council Monday afternoon.

Under the ordinance which is in strict accordance with the council charter, the assessors are vested with the power to nominate subordinate officers. The office which Chief Clerk Beauchamp holds will be named by the assessors.

Mayor Woodward has not given an expression as to what he thinks of the Nutting ordinance, but he has indicated that he does not approve it.

Will Introduce Three Bills To Circumvent Dictagraph's Misuse by Unscrupulous

It is not improbable that legislations may be placed around the use of the dictagraph this summer. The abuses to which its unrestricted employment may lead in ruining the reputation of good citizens has been brought to the attention of members of the general assembly, and several have announced their intention of introducing bills on the subject when the legislature meets. It is said that three different bills have already been prepared dealing with the misuse of the dictagraph.

Unless some safeguard is thrown around the use of the instrument, it is evident that great harm is liable to result of perfectly innocent citizens from the misuse of the invention in the hands of malicious and unscrupulous persons.

CLASSMATES HONOR MISS EUNICE REED

Athens, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—A splendid record, indeed, was that made by Miss Eunice Reed, who was selected by her classmates to read the valedictory essay at the graduating exercises of the Athens high school this week. Since she entered the first grade at the Meigs street school on through her high school course she had led her class every year.

Family Relations Tangled By Wedding of Stepchildren

Mr. and Mrs. Walter K. Mitchell

Last Thursday night, pretty Marie Pate graduated from the Girls' High school. Saturday afternoon, she was secretly married to her step-brother, Walter Kelly Mitchell, at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Mitchell, 19 York avenue.

When Mr. Mitchell, the father, who is attached to the Grady hospital staff, went home Saturday night, he carried a huge package of roses for his step-daughter in honor of her graduation. As he handed over the mass of flowers, he said:

"This is a graduation present, and—"

Before he could proceed further, his step-daughter that was, but now is his daughter-in-law, interrupted.

"And wedding present, too, eh?"

The father did not instantly grasp the meaning of her remarks. The son broke in.

"If I marry your daughter, father, what am I—your son, your son-in-law or what?"

"For one thing," Mr. Mitchell answered, "you'd be a mighty lucky fellow."

"Then a lucky fellow, I am, for Marie and I were married this afternoon."

The wedding was a surprise. The bride is only 17 years old. They left Saturday night for Asheville, where they will spend their honeymoon. Upon returning to Atlanta, they will live with their parents at the York avenue address.

The young groom is 24 years old and is an auditor. The courtship extends back for six years, at which time the parents of the couples were married.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO DR. I. S. HOPKINS BY TECH ALUMNI

One of the interesting incidents of the graduation exercises of Tech on its twenty-fifth anniversary was the tribute paid to Dr. I. S. Hopkins, first president of the institution, and the man who years ago was first to see the need of such an institution in Georgia.

From the alumni of the college Dr. Hopkins was presented with a handsome loving cup, which was given to him with a suitable tribute to his services both in working for the institution's organization and for his labors while at its head.

Dr. Hopkins was present at the time, as it is said that he has never failed to attend the graduating exercises each year, and accepted the cup with a short speech of thanks in which he spoke of the early work at Tech and of its present and wonderful future.

It was Dr. Hopkins, who, as president of Emory college, first saw the necessity of a technical education for Georgia boys, and opened up a small workshop in the rear of his home. Here he taught those of the Emory students who wished to take advantage of the course.

It was his desire that such a course should become a part of this college, but this was voted down, and Dr. Hopkins began to urge the need of the legislature's establishing a state school. This was done later, and the man who first gave the idea birth was persuaded to leave Emory to become the first president.

"There's No Place Like Home"

Runs the familiar old song, and there's a great deal of truth in this particularly captivating phrase if the home be an attractive one.

Home is just what we make it, by the presence of ourselves, our attitude toward others, and by the way home is kept.

And that leads to the thought that the homes of the millions in this country may be constantly improved and made more comfortable if the advertising appeal is heeded.

Almost every day, if not every day, THE CONSTITUTION prints advertisements that point the way for householders to buy well and exercise economy.

During these warm days, when many home comforts are needed — things to keep the house cool and inviting—things for the table—things that are appetizing—it pays to read the ads in THE CONSTITUTION.

GRAND JURY DECLINES TO INDICT FELDER

"No Bill" Is Returned After Investigation of Pistol "Toting" Charge.

After investigating the charge that on June 5, when he had a difficulty with Detective Chief Newport Lanford, that Colonel Thomas B. Felder bore a pistol in his pocket, the grand jury yesterday afternoon returned a "no bill" against him.

Dr. Horace Grant, Deputy Sheriff Miner and Newt Garner, an attache in the solicitor's office where the fight occurred, were called as witnesses.

As Chief Lanford stood over Colonel Felder with doubled fists and ordered him to rise to his feet it is said that the lawyer reached toward his hip pocket as though to draw a weapon. The two men were separated by deputies and others before they could come together, but no report of an official search to see if they were carrying concealed weapons was made to the grand jury.

Chief Lanford, it is understood, was carrying a pistol in line with his right as an officer of the law and no investigation was made of this.

ATLANTA HOTEL MEN LEAVE FOR CONVENTION

Atlanta members of the Georgia Hotel Men's association left in a body for the midsummer meeting at Tybee island last night. Leaving the city in a private car over the Central of Georgia railway for Savannah at 9:35 o'clock Thursday night, headed by J. Lee Barnes, president of the Atlanta Hotel Men's association, they will spend all of today and Saturday in convention, discussing, among other things, legislation for the creation of a state hotel inspector.

Leading traveling organizations will send delegates to this gathering to present arguments inimitative to the proposed legislation, and there will be representatives from the United Commercial Travelers' association, the Travelers' Protective association, the Georgia Traveling association, and the Southern Traveling association.

The Atlanta hotel men will be entertained at luncheon at the Savannah Hotel, and will be given an automobile ride around the city, after which they will go to Tybee, where many of them will remain until Sunday morning.

GRACE METHODIST S. S. OBSERVES FATHER'S DAY

On Sunday morning Grace Methodist Sunday school will celebrate fathers' day with a very fitting and unique program for the occasion.

The celebration of father's day as told in the story of the life of Joseph will be taken by H. K. Chapman. About twenty-five men, some of whom are fathers and grandfathers, will occupy the rostrum during the exercises.

The baraca class will tell when a young man got out his best buggy. The men's auditorium class will tell when two great men looked in each other's eyes. A class of intermediate boys will tell when the board bill was all paid.

WORK ALREADY BEGUN FOR BIG CORN SHOW

Will Offer Prizes for Improved Yield and Give Chance to Boys on Poor Land.

The corn show committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce is beginning active work six month in advance of the date for the show, with the object in view of making the 1913 show the largest and most successful in the history of the south.

The members believe that it will take fully half a year to complete the plans which have been outlined. Last year's Georgia corn show was the largest and most notable ever held in the south, and after it was over many communications came in from other southern states for information about the methods Georgia had used in stimulating interest in the contests. This year it is proposed not only to retain, but to increase the eminence of Georgia as a southern corn-growing state.

Meetings of the chamber of commerce will be held regularly at stated intervals, and already active co-operation has been promised from all parts of the state. The show will be held again this year in the corridors of the state capitol.

Among the new plans and features that will be introduced to increase interest and add to the efficiency of the contestants is a proposed series of entirely new prizes and awards. This new series will in no way affect the old prizes, which will be given practically the same as last year, but will be in addition to them.

By this supplementary series of prizes, boys who are handicapped by working on poor land will have cognizance taken of the disadvantages under which they work, and will stand to win on their merits. In other words the "poor land handicap" will be lifted in contesting for the new prizes, and boys will be rewarded not only as before for the greatest total yields per acre, but also for the greatest proportionate increase per acre. In other words, if a boy whose land normally has been making fifteen bushels an acre increases his yield to thirty bushels he wins, in the handicap contest, from the boy whose land has been yielding normally forty acres and who increases it to fifty.

The only regret in the awarding of prizes last year was the fact that no proper provision was taken to recognize the merits of boys who planted on bad land, and who achieved splendid increases, but who had no chance to win prizes granted for total yields per acre.

FEDERAL PRISONERS ASK FOR RELEASE

Edward F. Blake, with several other names, now doing ten years in the federal prison, and Frank Howard, likewise having many other cognomens, will appear before Judge Newman, in the federal building, Friday, June 20, asking for release by habeas corpus.

Blake and Howard are now doing long sentences in the federal penitentiary following conviction in the Massachusetts federal courts, where they were tried for breaking into and robbing a postoffice at East Morris, that state.

Lamar Hill, of Atlanta, their attorney, claims in his habeas corpus writ that the sentence should not be cumulative, and that the prisoners have served full time, and for that reason he asked their release. Judge Newman has designated June 20 for a full hearing of the case, directing Warden Moyer, against whom the writ has been issued, to produce the two prisoners in court on the day indicated in his order.

TEACHERS GET LAST OF THEIR 1912 PAY

A treasury warrant was drawn yesterday for money to pay the school teachers for work done in 1912. It was for $1,799.13, and represented a balance on the 1912 account from some counties, the superintendents of which had failed for some reason or other to get their requisitions in earlier. Assistant State Treasurer Anderson says that the money might have been paid earlier if the demand for it had been made at an earlier date.

WHIFFS

On Other Foot.

THE CRACKERS have been losing ball games all season in the sixth inning. Thursday the shoe was on the other foot. The Crackers jumped on Grimes in the sixth inning and by mixing all kinds of baseball tallied a sufficient number of runs to win. The team batted around in this session. Like the worm, etc.

A Record.

CONZELMAN failed to give a base on balls in the game with the Lookouts Thursday. He twirled steadily, consistent ball throughout and seemed to get better as he went, despite the poor support that he got at times. As Pete failed to give a base on balls in the final game with the Barons, A record was established. Cracker hurlers not giving a base on balls in two consecutive days. A continuance of this and things look great.

He Did It.

THE SAILOR in the comic sheets has been having a time trying to catch Grimes' goat. Joe Dunn did it Thursday and is due for that new suit of clothes as advertised. Joe caught one of the Quinniss marvels fast ones on the nose and pickled it to right field for two sacks, sending home the two runs that were necessary to win, after the game had been tied in the same session, just previous to his smash.

We Thank Them.

WHIFFS is glad that the Birmingham Barons and the Chattanooga Lookouts are in the Southern league. Sixteen or more than half of the victories the Crackers have scored this season, have been registered from these two teams, eight out of nine from the Lookouts and eight out of eleven from the Barons. Pretty nifty, eh, what?

Speed v. Strength.

BOXING fans of Atlanta will have a chance to compare the relative merits of a speedy, shifty boxer and those of a hard-hitting slugger when Jim Savage and Sailor White tie up at the Auditorium-Armory. If Savage has developed the kick that they say he has, Whiffs picks him to win over White, as he has more cleverness, and a clever man with a punch is a rarity in the pugilistic game these days. When one springs up he usually mops.

Will We Repeat?

BIRMINGHAM scribes are calling attention to the fact that when the Crackers won the pennant in 1907, they trimmed the Birmingham Barons on pennant raising-date, then sprung a winning streak and walked through to a pennant. The Crackers performed the walloping on pennant day this season. It now remains to be seen whether the other part of the history will repeat itself. Here's hoping.

The Difference.

INTEREST in their surroundings, their play and their team has made a vast difference in the work of Chief Bender and Rube Oldring this season. And the return of these two men to form has done as much toward putting the Athletics at the top of the American league scramble and keeping them there. They want that world's series money again. That's the answer.

If Money Lasts.

KID ELBERFELD may win a pennant for the Lookouts. That is, if the purse strings of the club owners are not drawn tight in the near future. The Kid has spent money like water this season, making chances after chances trying out a player for a few days, releasing him when he did not deliver and buying another. The Chattanooga scribes said that Bill Smith was expensive. Why he is as expensive in comparison with Elberfeld as the sporting editor's pocketbook is in comparison with Rockefeller's. Some comparison, eh, what?

The Answer.

DESPITE the denial, we'll be willing to wager that Connie Mack would take Cy Morgan back if he could get him. The reason is simple. Morgan has won ten straight games for the Kansas City team of the American association. If Morgan was with the Athletics winning ten straight games, coupling this with the record of Bender and Plank, the American league would be choosing up and starting over again July 4.

At 'Em Again.

THE BIG FOUR will lock horns with the English polo team again on Saturday. That is, if Devereaux Milburn, Monte Waterbury will be unable to play owing to a broken finger. Stoddard, who takes his place as a first class player, but it is feared that he may upset the team work of the Americans, as he lacks Monte's experience and ability to co-operate with the other three. However, the odds in betting have shifted from 10 to 8 on the English to 10 to 6 on the Americans.

Making Money.

SOUTHERN league teams are at least paying expenses this season, and some of them are making money. President Ramsay Hall states that the attendance throughout the league this year shows an improvement of 25 per cent over last season. If such is the case, and it continues so, there will be some money made in this league this year, as the shortage last season was but little below the actual expenses.

The Old Alibi.

IF SAVAGE loses to White tonight, if Chattanooga beats Atlanta today or any other such possibilities the old alibi stuff can be worked overtime. Today is Friday, the 13th. Ouch!

To Steal March.

JACK PRINCE is going to try to double cross the weather man. Instead of postponing his opening motorcycle race meet to Tuesday night, he is going to try to pull it off Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. A continuance of the present weather and the chances are exceedingly bright.

Pels Buy McDowell.

New Orleans, June 12.—Second Baseman McDowell, of the Toledo, American association, club, has been purchased by the New Orleans, Southern league club, according to announcement by Manager Frank today.

Crackers Get Grimes' Goat; Joe Dunn's Wallop Does It; Conzelman in Great Form

By W. G. Foster.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 12.—(Special.)—Stasging another "big inning" as they did twice in Atlanta last week, after the Chattanooga team had apparently won the game, the Crackers romped to a 7-4 victory over the Lookouts this afternoon.

After twirling fairly good ball for five innings and receiving sensational support, Grimes, Elberfeld's "phenom" from the Central association, started a donation party in the sixth.

With the score 4 to 1 in favor of the home club, he issued three passes in succession, forcing in Welchonce, who had singled. When he stopped donating, the Cracker batsmen decided it was time to get busy and a hard single by Adler was followed by a long double by Dunn, the whole totalling five runs and victory.

Conzleman Right.

Conzelman pitched a superb game. Errors were connected with three of four runs off his delivery, and after the fourth there was never the remotest possibility of a run being scored by the Lookouts.

His control was perfect in the pinches, and efforts to walk him out proved futile. Although he got three balls on many batsmen, he did not issue a pass during the game. He was backed ragged erratically, a muff by Long and wild throw by Bisland, each being costly.

Long opened the first by heating a scratch. He went to second when Alpermann was hit; to third when Bailey forced Alpermann, and scored on a double steal.

Flick's triple, which tore up the chalk line back of first, was followed by Williams's fly to center for a tying run in the last half. The triple caused a hot argument. Rudderham, umpiring the bases at first, suggested to Hart that the ball was foul, but Hart couldn't see it that way.

Two Errors Hurt.

A muff by Long of an easy chance with two down in the third gave King a life at first, and he scored on Flick's single. In the fourth, with one down, Bisland's wild throw gave Elston second, and he scored on Johnson's long single. Johnson made merry with Joe Dunn just here, stealing second and third clearly. He scored on Street's fluke single past short. This was the fourth and last run for the Lookouts.

Grimes' control was way off for the whole period of his occupancy of the mound, but his support was steady. Street helping by throwing out three batters. In the sixth the Iowan became wild beyond the power of his backers to rescue him. Welchonce beat a scratch and Alpermann was inked for the second time. Bailey bunted. Then passes to Smith and Bisland forced a run over.

Elberfeld kept the Iowa youngster in, by way of trying his mettle. He was forced to groove one for Agler, who pickled it for a hard single, scoring two and tying the count. Dunn then cracked a double past first, scoring the two that won.

Kroh was sent in for the locals in the next inning, and was effective save in the eighth, when Smith hit him for a long triple to right center, and Bisland scored the run with a sacrifice fly. The locals seemed to wilt after the sixth, and showed little confidence against Conzelman.

Dent or Brady for Atlanta and Sommers for Chattanooga are the probable hurlers for Friday.

Mobile, Ala., June 2.—Mobile defeated Memphis this afternoon, making it two out of three in the series. The score was 5 to 2. Starr, the first man to face him, hitting a home run. Cavet pitched fine ball for Mobile, one of the Memphis runs resulting from an error by Schnell's hitting featured, having a perfect average with a triple, double and single out of three times at bat.

STODDARD GIVEN PLACE ON TEAM

Takes Place of Monte Waterbury in Polo Match Next Saturday — English May Change.

New York, June 12.—The Polo association announced this afternoon that L. E. Stoddard, who took "Monty" Waterbury's place when Waterbury was injured in the game with the British challengers last Tuesday, would be in the line-up for the second game next Saturday.

Waterbury will not be in the game because of his broken finger, and Larry Waterbury, his brother, who played with Stoddard, is shifted to No. 2, will be no other changes.

The line-up announced this afternoon by the association is:

No. 1—Stoddard.
No. 2—Larry Waterbury
No. 3—Harry Payne Whitney.
Back—Devereaux Milburn.

The challengers, it is said, have practically decided on the substitute, F. M. Freake for Captain Noel Edwards at No. 2. Mr. Freake was on the British team in the matches with America in 1909, 1911 and 1909. It was in the last named year that the American team regained the cup.

LEAGUE'S LEADING TWIRLER

HARRY COVELESKIE.

The big Pole, who is pitching in the kind of form that earned for him the title of the Giant Killer when he was a member of the Philadelphia Nationals. Coveleskie has won twelve games this season and has dropped three, giving him a percentage of .800. Other pitchers have the same mark, but they have won four less games than he has, therefore the Pole is awarded the palm as the league's best hurler so far. He will probably face the Crackers in the final game of the present series.

Savage and White Ready For Tap of Gong Tonight At Auditorium-Armory

FACTS OF TONIGHT'S BOXING SHOW AT THE AUDITORIUM

Time—8:30.
Place—Auditorium-Armory.
Seats—On sale Shepherd's cigar shop, Edgewood and Pryor.
Principals—Jim Savage and Sailor White, heavyweights.
Conditions—Straight Marquis of Queensberry rules, ten rounds.
Semi-windups — Two ten-round bouts, Spider Britt v. Meyer Pries and Mike Saul v. Terry Nelson.

The best heavyweight card ever staged in Atlanta is that offering for tonight at the Atlanta Auditorium-Armory. That is putting it pretty strong, of course, but judged from the records and the condition of the two principals and the importance that attaches to this battle it seems no overstatement.

Of course that battle is not for the heavyweight title, but it brings together two of the strongest candidates for championship honors and it does it at a time when every victory looms big to a heavyweight and a draw or a defeat is expensive.

Both men have been in Atlanta several days in training. Both Britt and Meyer Pries will go ten rounds.

tled the best of the white hope crop with good success. In 130 battles Savage has lost but four. White has not been boxing as long, but his wonderful showing in the white hope tournament proves him a corker.

The scrap is bound to be a whirlwind affair. Sailor White is a mixer from the heart and has never stepped into a ring with a man who could keep him from being the aggressor. He believes in a short scrap and a merry one. He has tremendous strength, a lot of reach, moderate cleverness and a ferocious punch.

Savage, on the other hand, has only recently developed a dangerous punch. But he is a boxer, and has been for years a marvelously clever man. He learned the game from Bob Fitzsimmons, and he learned it right. There are few scrappers of any weight in the United States and no heavyweight on the globe who compare with him in cleverness.

The preliminaries promise great doings. The Mike Saul-Terry Nelson scrap, at ten rounds, will be a large session. Both lads are fair boxers and great punchers. They are willing and well trained. Their meeting should be a hummer. In the first bout Spider Britt and Meyer Pries will go ten rounds.

MOTORS TO BUZZ THIS SATURDAY

Jack Prince Decides to Steal a March on the Weather Man With Race Tomorrow Afternoon.

In an effort to steal a march on J. Pluvius, the weather man and the Jinx, all at one time, Jack Prince has switched his plans for an opening race meet at his motordrome at the old show grounds and has scheduled it for Saturday afternoon, beginning at 4 o'clock.

Jack's track was built for night racing, primarily. But, of course, it is a great sport in the daytime. Ordinarily it would be too hot perhaps for many fans, but with the weather icy at night, the afternoon sun feels more the comfortable and a meet beginning at 4 o'clock should be just the thing. The ball club is out of the city that day and there are no counter attractions.

The speed fans of Atlanta have been waiting impatiently for the opening of the motordrome. Again and again it has been rained or frozen out. Now, at last, there seems a good chance to pull it with weather fair and with everything right.

The facts that the track is not only a bit over five minutes' run from Five Point and that Atlanta is virtually closed up tight on Saturday afternoons, especially after 4 o'clock, ought to insure a large crowd.

The same sensational card that was postponed from the opening night will be run Saturday afternoon. There will be nine good races, with three and four riders on the track in each event. They will make speeds right around ninety miles an hour. The big events will be the Atlanta 25 sweepstakes, the motordrome purse and a special race. All the famous French, Scotch and American riders now here will take part in the events.

Georgia Alumni Battles Varsity on Saturday; Great Rivalry Exists

Athens, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)— "First they 'lowed they wouldn't and then they 'lowed they would" is the way the Georgia baseball team has finally settled the matter of the challenge from the alumni to play a game of ball with the Varsity on the 14th—the last appearance positively of Captain Bob McWhorter's regular 1913 Red and Black team.

Marcus McWhorter, of Atlanta, is manager of the alumni team and Charles H. Cox is captain. They have sent in a list of the probable men of the men they expect to play and give the following line-up as (not probable) but possible, barring permitting.

Colby or Peacock will catch both superb receivers; Kid Brannen and Charlie Cox or Wed Brown will do the pitching—and the Kid is in fit form, while McWhorter has not grown stiff; Trammell Scott will play first, Frank Martin will guard second, John Cooper will be at third, Paul Bartlett will cover shortstop. The outfield will be taken care of by Jim Watson, Morton Hodgson and Frank Ryle. Will Erwin and Dozier Lowndes will come with the team from Atlanta as official rooters for the old boys.

Captain Cox and Manager McWhorter state in a letter received today that they will put up a good article of real ball and if the regulars of this year think it is going to be a joke there will be some surprise coming to them.

The Georgia team at first decided they couldn't arrange the game, but after a second decision to do so have concluded to meet the alumni Saturday afternoon on Sanford Mead.

KNABE AND TINKER FINED AND SUSPENDED

New York, June 12.—President Lynch, of the National baseball league, suspended and fined $25 each today, Manager Knabe, of the Cincinnati club, and Second Baseman Knabe, of the Philadelphia team, for fighting during the game at Cincinnati yesterday. Both men will be eligible to play next Tuesday.

QUERIES ANSWERED

Under this head the sporting editor will endeavor to answer all questions pertaining to all branches of sports.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: Please enlighten me on the following:

T. S. P.

When a base runner is on first, for instance, and the batter hits an infield tap which is fielded to second base to catch the man going there, but the throw is too late, the batter is credited with a Cincinnati hit. This is the same play that was credited a second a fielder's choice. Of course, the play has to be made without an error for the batter to be given a hit.

Jennings Suspended.

New York, June 12.—Hugh Jennings, manager of the Detroit club of the American league, was notified today of his indefinite suspension by President Ban Johnson for alleged abusive language to Umpire Ferguson in the game at Washington recently.

O'CONNOR FILES SUIT AGAINST BALL TRUST

St. Louis, June 12.—John J. O'Connor, manager of the St. Louis Federal baseball team, has retained attorneys to file suit in federal court to test the legality of organized baseball.

The petition will ask $25,000 damages for O'Connor's banishment and will name each of the eight clubs in the American league as defendants.

The position prepared charges that the national baseball agreement is a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The petition attacks the legality of the "reserve clause" and charges that the leagues have bought and sold men as chattels and has denied players the right to earn a living in the business for which they have been trained.

An attorney in the case said today that the suit would be filed Saturday or Monday.

PRUSSIA NOT ABLE TO FLOAT BOND ISSUE

Berlin, June 12.—Subscriptions for the $56,250,000 of new imperial and Prussian 4 per cent bonds at the price of 97.90 today were even more unsatisfactory than those for the loans of $137,500,000 issued on March 7. Preliminary estimates of the amount of subscriptions say that only 40 or 50 per cent of the new issue has been covered.

The poor success of the subscription was due to the unsatisfactory situation in the money market which is feeling the effects of large issues recently floated. The tendency of prices of government bonds did not appeal to the speculators.

It is credibly reported in financial circles that the German government has urged the great German banks to desist from further foreign flotations in view of the monetary pressure and that the banks have decided to accede to the request, although several foreign issues were approaching perfection.

Medal Winners to Be Decided At Shooting Tournament Today

The winners of three of the medals which are being contested for at the shooting tournament of the Georgia national guard, near Fort McPherson, will be decided at this morning's target shooting.

These medals are for individuals only and are the Daniel medal for the best score at 200 yards, slow fire; the Kicklighter medal for the best score at 600 yards, slow fire, and the Dunwoody medal for the best score at 200 yards, surprise fire, or, that is, the best marksmanship for aggregating targets.

The individual matches were concluded on Thursday afternoon, but the winners of the individual medals will not be decided until after today's team matches are closed, when today's marks by the individuals will be taken separately from the team aggregates and added to the individual totals already made. The totals in the individual contests allow a possible 300 points.

The individual matches held Wednesday and Thursday were as follows: 200 yards, slow fire; 600 yards, slow fire; 1,000 yards, slow fire; 200 yards surprise fire, and skirmish. The shooting for team trophies will be held under the same conditions on Friday and Saturday.

Medals to Be Awarded.

On Saturday the following individual medals will be awarded: Stockdell medal for highest aggregate individual and team score at 1,000 yards, slow fire, and the Crankshaw medal for the champion rifle shot of Georgia, or the highest total score.

The following team trophies will be awarded on Saturday; Anderson trophy, for the highest aggregate score in team matches; Candler trophy, for the second highest and Paxon trophy for third highest.

Governor Brown, Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash, General Evans, commanding the Department of the Gulf; Colonel Van Orsdale, commanding Fort McPherson, and a number of the colonels staff visited the target range Thursday afternoon to see the skirmish firing and take supper with the militia sharpshooters, who are gathered at the camp from all parts of the state, 128 strong.

Friday's and Saturday's shooting will decide the thirty men, who will shoot in the finals over the Fort McPherson range in August to compose the Georgia national guard team of fifteen men who will attend the big national and international shoot at Camp Perry, Ohio, the last of August and first part of September.

S. C. DOBBS IS CHOSEN BY ADVERTISING CLUBS

Baltimore, June 12.—Presentation of reports from committees and commissions, to be followed by an open meeting for the discussion of matters affecting th future of the association, were the principal features of today's meeting of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America.

The limitation of the power in the national organization of the clubs whose membership is composed of others than professional buyers or sellers of advertising was the principal recommendation of the report of the committee on individual and club membership.

The committee proposed the division of the membership into two classes—active and associate. Associate members will have no vote if the report is adopted at next year's convention.

The board of directors elected an executive committee to serve for the affiliated clubs during the next year. Three members at large were named and one man from each of the seven divisions of the country. The members at large are:

Three-year term, A. M. Briggs, Cleveland; two-year term, Douglas M. Graves, Boston; one-year term, E. Stelo Lewis, Detroit.

Southwestern division, Fred E. Johnston, Dallas; southeastern division, Samuel C. Dobbs, Atlanta; central division, A. E. Chamberlain, Chicago.

Dollar ladies' prize to the Town Cryers' club, of Waterloo, Iowa, which brought the largest number of ladies to the convention.

The Boston mileage banner went to the Class Advertising club, of San Francisco, which sent five of its eighteen members to Baltimore.

HE WAS UNDER FIRE WHILE IN AIRBOAT

Annapolis, Md., June 12.—While making a flight in an air boat to Galesville, a small village on West river, about fifteen miles from Annapolis, where a horse show was in progress, Lieutenant A. A. Cunningham, of the navy aviation corps, was literally under fire this afternoon.

A projectile of fairly large caliber pierced the propeller of the machine and glanced off after striking another part of the mechanism. In its course it passed within a few feet of Lieutenant Cunningham and Mechanician Green, who was with him. It is not known where the missile came from.

While the occupants of the machine had a narrow escape, their flight was not interrupted, and after sailing within plain sight of the horse show crowd, the return was made to Annapolis without descending. Three other machines also made the flight. The trip, about thirty-five miles in length, was made by four machines in thirty-six minutes.

CATHOLIC CHAPLAINS OBJECT TO UNIFORM

Washington, June 12.—At the concluding session today of the first congress of the Catholic Chaplain corps of the army and navy a resolution was adopted recommending to the secretaries of the army and navy the erection of chapels at all military posts. At present religious services are not held in any regular hall. The suggestion of Secretary Daniels that the naval chaplains organize among Catholic enlisted men such societies as the Total Abstinence and the Holy Name was adopted.

Discussion developed an almost unanimous sentiment in favor of Catholic chaplains being allowed to wear the clerical garb of Catholic priests instead of the uniform. The congress went on record in testifying to the high character of army and navy officers and their co-operation in the work of the chaplains.

The chaplain corps will meet here again in 1915.

OFFER GUILTY PLEA TO SAVE A COMRADE

San Francisco, Cal., June 12.—Five suspended policemen today offered to plead guilty to conspiracy with bunco men if the sentence to be imposed on their fellow officer, Frank Eadie, convicted of grand larceny in the same set of cases, would be lightened, it was announced by District Attorney Fickert. The offer has not been accepted.

In return for pleading guilty the five would get six months sentences, instead of a year, and all felony charges would be dropped.

TO SEPARATE RACES ON WASHINGTON CARS

Washington, June 12.—(Special.)—Separation of the races on the street cars of the capital is provided for in a bill which Representative William Schley Howard will introduce tomorrow. He wants the same rules which apply in street cars in Atlanta put into effect here—the white people seating from the front and the negroes from the rear of the cars. At present the negroes are scattered in the cars and frequent cases of disorder have resulted.

Several years ago Representative Heflin, of Alabama, got into a bloody scrape because of his resentment at the action of a drunken negro who sat beside a white woman.

Representative Roddenbery, of Georgia, also had a fight with a negro on a Washington street car about a year ago through the system of promiscuous crowding.

There will be opposition to the Howard bill from representatives who live in those states where the negro still exercises some political influence, but he will press it hard, and believes it will result in keeping better order on the cars and perhaps in saving lives.

COTTON LEGISLATION WILL BE CONSIDERED

Washington, June 12.—(Special.)—Better methods for the transportation and marketing of cotton will be discussed before the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, of which Representative Adamson, of Georgia, is chairman, on June 24. Uniform tare which has long been a subject of a heated controversy, will come up in this connection. Deduction of 6 per cent for tare is now the custom over the bale contains that much or not. Foreign shippers have complained that cotton bales are not properly protected for their long journey and this will also be looked into by the committee in the consideration of legislation. Representatives of cotton farmers, of manufacturers and cotton exchanges will appear before the committee.

GAYNOR WILL STAND FOR A SECOND TERM

New York, June 12.—Mayor William J. Gaynor is willing to run for re-election. In a statement issued today he made this announcement and spoke of the prospect of his running for a second term.

"Unless the fusionists nominate me," he said, "I am out in the cold, unless some good people get together, who think I have done pretty well, and nominate me by petition.

"I have no par'ticular back of me, often an uncomfortable position, but I am satisfied. There area lot of people dead against me. I have kept their hands out of the public treasury. I did not ask to be nominated for mayor, something led me into it. I have been through a pretty tough time since. I bear the marks of physical and moral assassins upon me. I am perfectly content to go out carrying them."

TIRED OF WAY OF LIFE, WOMAN DISAPPEARED

New York, June 12.—A ten-days' search by the police for Mrs. Olga M. Houseman was ended today, when she walked into her mother's home in Brooklyn and explained the reason for her disappearance.

"I was just tired of living the way I was," she said. "So I rowed over to Far Rockaway, took off my skirt, tore it, and fastened a piece of it to an oar. Then I broke the other oar and threw part of it in the boat. I shoved the boat away, caught a train for New York, and got a job in a millinery store. I like it fine and intend to keep on working."

The police had proceeded on the theory that she had been slain, or was held prisoner in the marshes surrounding Sheepshead Bay.

$1,000,000 IN BONDS FOR MISSISSIPPI LEVEES

Jackson, Miss., June 12.—The lower house of the Mississippi legislature, in special session, today passed a bill authorizing the levee board to issue $1,000,000 in bonds for the rehabilitation of the Mississippi river levees in this state. The bill had previously been favorably acted upon in the senate.

The senate passed a concurrent resolution ordering an investigation of the books of all state offices and state institutions, the report to be made to the next regular session.

The special session will adjourn Saturday.

SMITH FOR BLALOCK, AND BACON FOR HITCH

Georgia Senators Are Not Yet Agreed as to Jackson's Successor.

By John Carriean, Jr.

Washington, D. C., June 12.—(Special.)—Representative Hardwick called at thew bite house today and indorsed A. O. Blalock, of Fayetteville, for the position of collector of internal revenue to succeed Henry S. Jackson. This is the place over which Senators Bacon and Smith are in dispute, both claiming the place.

If Senator Bacon continues to press Calvin M. Hitch for collector of internal revenue, it is probable that Senator Smith will bring out an opposition candidate to David C. Barrow as collector of the port of Savannah.

Ellis to Command Mayflower.

Senator Bacon also called on Mr. Bryan, secretary of state, to recommend Dr. E. F. Frasier, of Macon, for appointment as consular agent at Vevey, Switzerland. Dr. Frasier is a wealthy man and wants a small official position during his lengthy residence abroad.

Whitaker Coming Home.

BROTHER OF GOVERNOR TRIES TO KILL NEPHEW

Harrisburg, Pa., June 12.—Major William H. Hastings, who last month shot at his nephew, Ross A. Hickok, a former Yale athlete, because of fancied grievances, and later engaged in a pistol battle with policemen who attempted to arrest him, today pleaded guilty in the county court to felonious assault and battery with intent to kill. Sentence was deferred and Hastings, who is a brother of a former governor of Pennsylvania, was returned to prison.

SHE KILLS HUSBAND AND HER DAUGHTER

While Demented, Mrs. Kellar Brained Victims as They Were Asleep.

Harrisonville, Mo., June 12.—Mrs. Arthur Kellar late today confessed that it was she who killed her husband and their daughter, Margaret, 7 years old, last Tuesday. Kellar and the girl were slain with an axe as they lay in their beds.

The confession, which was signed Mrs. Kellar, brought to a quick termination the coroner's inquest that had been in session two days in an attempt to place the responsibility for the murder. The jury returned a verdict holding the woman on a charge of murder. Mrs. Keller was taken to jail.

"God knows I would not have killed them had I known what I was doing," Mrs. Kellar said in her confession. She declared she had frequently been irresponsible for her actions since she received a blow on the head two years ago.

After telling of the slaying of her husband and daughter Mrs. Kellar said she picked up the ax and broke a piece off her own bed that she might make it appear that she also had been attacked. With this done she went to the neighbors and told the story of the mysterious man who had fled as she awakened after he had struck at her with an ax.

The confession was made through the efforts of a detective yesterday, and today spent much time questioning Mrs. Kellar and her 5-year-old son. The boy is declared to be the favorite of the detective that his mother told him to say a man had come to the house and killed his father and sister. George was asleep in another room in the house at the time the crime was committed.

NO TIME EXTENSION FOR HARRIMAN LINES

Government Serves Notice That the Dissolution Decree Must Be Carried Out.

St. Paul, Minn., June 12.—Attorney General McReynolds served notice today that the government was opposed to giving the Union Pacific railway any further extension of time within which to dispose of its holdings of Southern Pacific stock as ordered by the supreme court. In doing so he made known to the railroad's attorneys and to United States Circuit Judges Sanborn, Hook and Smith, at a hearing in the dissolution proceedings, his objections to two of the latest plans proposed by the railroad for getting rid of its $126,650,000 worth of Southern Pacific stock.

A new plan was proposed for the disposition of almost a third of the Southern Pacific stock held by Union Pacific. This plan provides for trading Southern Pacific stock to the Pennsylvania railroad for the latter company's holdings in Baltimore and Ohio.

The court took the whole case under advisement. No intimation was given whether the plans submitted would be approved or whether the court would follow the attorney general's suggestion and attempt to dispose of the stock itself through the medium of a receiver or suggest a plan agreeable to the government.

"We are anxious to comply with the mandate of the supreme court and dispose of our Southern Pacific holdings, but we are unwilling to sell it for the price we could get in the present state of the market," Chairman Lovett of the board, told the court.

The supreme court ordered the Union Pacific to relinquish its Southern Pacific stock by July 1, 1913. Attorney General McReynolds said: "That time practically has arrived, and the Union Pacific has not complied with the mandate. The time has come for this court to take the matter in hand and order something done. If loss is incurred by the immediate sale of the stock it will be as the result of wrongful action of the road."

Mr. McReynolds declared he could see no objection to the proposed exchange by the road of $38,000,000 worth of its Southern Pacific stock at little less than one-third of its total holdings of Baltimore and Ohio stock held by the Pennsylvania railroad. He asked the court for a brief time, however, within which to investigate the stock holdings of the various railroads involved.

Permission to make this exchange was sought by the railroad in a supplemental bill of complaint filed today. The two plans were explained to the court by N. H. Loomis, of Omaha, associate to Judge Lovett. He thought the railroad should be allowed a year to carry them out, if approved.

During the discussion of the primary plan providing for the sale of the stock by public subscription through a syndicate, Judge Smith asked the railroad lawyer what there was to prevent the syndicate from fixing a prohibitive price on the stock, thus preventing popular sale and thereby leaving control of the Southern Pacific in the hands of the Union Pacific.

Mr. Loomis protested that the railroad was acting in good faith and desired no prohibitive price placed on the stock. He agreed, however, with Judge Smith's suggestion that the court should fix a minimum price provided the figure was not below par.

In his statement to the court Mr. McReynolds said he had been hopeful that the financial interests would get together and arrange an exchange of stock whereby the Union Pacific would acquire the Central Pacific which runs from Ogden to Sacramento, in return for its Southern Pacific stock. Failure to negotiate such a deal, he said, left the government with no alternative but to institute expensive litigation against the Southern Pacific to compel it to relinquish its control of the Central Pacific.

The flash of red at the rear of the machine increased, and Drew, evidently hoping to land in a field a half mile away, made an unwieldy dip in an effort to save himself. The biplane, hesitating for a moment, suddenly slid downward, careening as it fell.

As Branazon and the other spectators ran across the fields to the wreck there was the sound of an explosion and the machine was torn apart.

Drew evidently had landed on his head. His skull was fractured and both arms and both hips were broken. Word of his death was sent to relatives in Ohio.

Son of a Bank President.

St. Louis, June 13.—Andrew Drew was one of the most adventurous wealthy young men of St. Louis. Although the son of a bank president, brought up with every opportunity to take up the affairs of his father, who died three years ago, Drew accepted a position on an afternoon newspaper. While a reporter he made a trip in a balloon to get a story. He was fascinated by the experience and qualified for a pilot's license.

He went up in a leaky balloon from the Kinloch field, April 9, 1911 and narrowly escaped with his life. He studied aviation in Dayton, Ohio, and after graduation became director of the Cicero field in Chicago. Later he established a flying school in San Antonio, Texas, but went to Mexico during the recent Felix Diaz revolution to cover an assignment for a St. Louis paper.

RATE CASE DECISION APPROVED BY ADAMSON

Georgian Says Court Has Upheld Rights of the States.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, June 12.—(Special.)—Representative W. C. Adamson, of Georgia, chairman of the interstate and foreign commerce committee of the house, which considers all railway legislation, expressed complete approval today of the supreme court decision in the Minnesota rate case.

Judge Adamson was pleased that his amendment to the administrative railroad bill passed last year was given conspicuous attention in Justice Hughes' decision. It provides that "no provision of this act shall apply to business wholly within a state." This was quoted as showing what was the legislative intent in passing the railroad bill.

Attorney General Wickersham, in re-writing the Hepburn rate bill at the request of President Taft, had omitted this provision, and it was added on Judge Adamson's motion by an overwhelming vote in the house.

In giving hearty approval of the decision, Judge Adamson said he did not see how anybody familiar with the federal constitution and the interstate commerce law could have expected anything else.

"This opinion upholds the right of the states to regulate commerce wholly within their borders," he said. "I do not see how the court could have held otherwise.

"Various attempts have been made to extend the power of the federal government over into the realm of state control, but congress has refrained from legislating in that direction.

"The supreme court indicated in its opinion that congress might legislate in certain directions. Members of congress familiar with the interstate commerce situation and interstate commerce law have been aware of that all along, but congress has been too wise to legislate so as to encroach on the rights of the states. One oddity about the whole problem that has always impressed me has been this: When attempts have been made to provide by federal legislation for the control of railroads, some very amiable gentlemen have yelled that the government was going too far, that the states could handle such matters. The moment the states attempted to procure real regulation the cry has been that the states were going too far, and that the federal government should do the regulating, but these gentlemen are perfectly impartial when both attempt to operate within their respective domains and insist then that neither state nor nation should regulate.

JUBILEE IS PLANNED BY ILLINOIS WOMEN

Springfield, Ill., June 12.—President Wilson, former Presidents Taft and Roosevelt and the governor of each state where equal suffrage prevails have been invited by telegraph to be present at a women's jubilee, to be held here Friday night to celebrate passage of the bill yesterday granting limited suffrage to the women of Illinois.

The women are going ahead with their plans for further enfranchisement, it was announced today. A constitutional convention is one of these and a number of state amendments is another. The constitutional convention, it is expected, would enfranchise women so that they might vote on every proposition now decided by the ballots of the men. Teaching of civics of instruction will hold courses in citizenship as well as practical lessons in voting by hand-marked ballots and by machine.

By the bill adopted yesterday women may vote in all offices which are not mentioned in the constitution of Illinois. The bill gives as large a measure of suffrage to women in Illinois as the constitution permits the legislature to grant. Women cannot obtain complete suffrage in this state without a constitutional amendment or a constitutional convention.

KNIFE MAY BE USED IN THORACIC CAVITY

Paris, June 12.—Surgical research has proved that operations in the thoracic cavity can be performed as easily as in the abdomen or bowels, Dr. Alexis Carrel, of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, New York, says.

In the course of a lecture today at the Beaujon hospital in Paris, the Nobel prize winner declared that experiments on animals had demonstrated the heart to be an organ of very great resistance, and that it does not suffer harm if the circulation is interrupted for five or ten minutes.

The brain, however, said Dr. Carrel, is more delicate and may not be interrupted for more than three or four minutes, which, nevertheless, gives time for the accomplishment of much surgical work.

SEARCH IS CONDUCTED FOR YOUNG MACEO

New York, June 12.—The Cuban consul general's office today confirmed that it is conducting a systematic search for Antonio Maceo, son of General Antonio Maceo, a Cuban patriot killed in the war with Spain, but that, aside from learning that the young man had been in an insane asylum on Long Island and had escaped on June 3, no trace of him could be found.

Young Maceo was committed to the state hospital for the insane at Central Islip, L. I., in September, 1912, after he had shown signs of extreme depression and melancholia. For some time he was in the institution under the name of "Antonio Meason," and it was not until March last that he wrote a Cuban official of his plight and expressed his desire for release. The letter was forwarded to the state department at Havana with the result that the consul general here was asked to look into the case. On visiting the asylum yesterday he learned from the superintendent that Maceo had escaped two weeks ago. He was about 22 years old.

No Second Trial for Atteaux.

Boston, June 12.—Frederick E. Atteaux, the dye manufacturer who was a co-defendant with President William H. Wood of the American Woolen company in the recent dynamite "planting" case, will not be tried again, District Attorney Pelletier announced today after a conference with Atteaux and his counsel. The announcement was made after the jury had reported a disagreement as to him, and today District Attorney Pelletier nolle prossed the case.

ARCADY BROUGHT CLOSE TO ATLANTA BY YOUNG LOVERS

A real Arcadian venture into matrimony took place at Silver Lake Thursday, when Miss Lottie Weignall and Benjamin B. Avery were married with naught but the blue skies and green leaves over their heads and the waters of the lake making music at their feet.

The young couple had known and loved each other for a long time and planned to marry next fall and take an extended honeymoon through the west. But a week ago Miss Weignall accompanied Mr. Avery and his sister, Miss May Alva Murray, and their little brother on a camping party at Silver Lake. A week of the moonlit waters of the lake and the crooning boughs of the pines, however, precipitated the trip into a most happy and romantic ending.

A cedar canoe will take the place of hot and stuffy trains and a tent will answer with a little discomforts of hotels for the honeymoon of the young couple.

The only people present at the wedding were the bridegroom's sister and little brother, the minister, and a party of campers.

DEFIANCE GIVEN SENATE PROBERS

startled and a little awed by the sudden appearance of the senators, lawmen, mine operators, stenographers and newspaper men at the doors of their little houses. The business-like "company stores" gave up to the senators lists of the "high prices" which was given as one of the causes of the strike, and the dust-begrimed miners, bound to or from the drifts that gash the sides of the mountains, were halted and questioned in the road.

Bucolic Quiet Reigned.

As a method of securing definite testimony the all day trip proved unproductive, but the committee was enabled to secure a first-hand view of the conditions in the field. A bucolic quiet reigned throughout the entire district, so lately the scene of constant violence. The last of the state troops struck their tents and left the strike zone today, just as the committee's train pulled into Paint Creek junction, where the military headquarters had been maintained.

"Today's trip was valuable," said Senator Swanson, chairman of the subcommittee, after he reached Charleston at 9 o'clock tonight, "because it gave us a birdseye view of the situation at the scene of the trouble. It gave us a birdseye view of the geographical outline of the country in our minds. It will facilitate greatly the examination of witnesses."

The first night on the trip the committee did not see a single disturbance or sign of disorder, and not an armed man was seen in the district where the militia have confined hundreds of rifles, revolvers and shotguns. A quiet reigned that seemed almost unreal to the visitors. The living tents were all that was left of the strike, so far as the committee could tell.

Cabin Creek and Paint Creek valley, lie parallel, about three miles apart, and the committee's special train went through both. It also ran on Coal River, the valley nearest Charleston.

At Dacota, the next stop, the senators were shown what was believed to be a model mining camp. The Y. M. C. A. building with game rooms, reading rooms, baths and an outdoor swimming pool, was one of the features and a moving picture show for the miners was another.

Senator Kenyon's interest in the housing arrangements and his interest in a conversation with the wife of an Irish miner nearly marooned him at the next stop, Kayford. The special train moved off leaving the senator behind, but it was stopped and he was taken aboard.

Company Houses Examined.

At Acme and Eskdale, the committee examined scores of the company houses, rented to the miners. They usually consist of two, four or five-room houses, many in a state of bad repair. A bed, a table with some trinkets and a chair was the usual furniture of one of the rooms and a rough kitchen table and a stove equipped the other. A counsel for the companies explained to the senators that the older of these houses were rented for $1 a room a month. Representatives of the senators, with the party, said that the average rent on the creeks was six to eight dollars a month.

FIVE DAYS MORE GRACE FOR JACK JOHNSON

Chicago, June 12.—Jack Johnson, negro heavyweight prize fighter, obtained five more days of freedom, when Federal Judge Carpenter today granted his counsel until June 23 to prepare a writ of error to bring the negro's case before the United States court of appeals. Johnson was sentenced to a year and a day in the penitentiary when he was convicted of violating the Mann white slave act.

COLUMBIA IS SEIZED IN JAPANESE PORT

American Yacht Entered Nagahama Without Permission. Passengers Not Detained.

Tokio, June 12.—The official procurator of Nagahama is investigating the "arrest" yesterday of the American yacht Columbia, owned by J. Harvey Ladew, of the New York Yacht club.

The owner claims to have received verbal permission from the custom house authorities to enter the port of Nagahama for repairs.

The Japanese government, however, declares that it issued a permit for the Columbia to visit the sacred islet of Miyajima and the maritime town of Takamatsu, but not Nagahama.

No Diplomatic Action Taken.

The procurator at Magasaki decided tonight that the arrest of the Columbia was justified.

Washington, June 13.—Although without advices regarding the seizure of the American yacht Columbia by Japanese authorities at Nakamaha, officials here have no doubt that the vessel will be allowed to proceed without penalty. And this can be shown that she was forced to make refuge in the harbor to make repairs.

There is little possibility of the matter being turned into a diplomatic incident, because a similar prohibition against the entry of foreign vessel, except in cases of distress, to any but lawfully opened ports, is common to all countries. Even where a vessel is in distress, extreme weather or exhaustion of supplies into a closed port, the captain is required to make immediate request for entry to the nearest collector of customs.

During President Taft's administration the United States adopted the practice of forbidding the exercise of powers of closing to foreign vessels certain ports regarded as military or naval bases.

Passengers Not Detained.

New York, June 12.—Artemas H. Holmes, of this city, whose daughter, Hilda, is of the party of Americans cruising on J. Harvey Ladew's yacht Columbia, received a cable message from her today saying that members of the party had not been detained at Nagahama, as reported by cable yesterday.

She added that all were on their way to St. Petersburg by rail. No mention was made of the yacht.

The presumption is now that the vessel was seized, as reported, for entering a port where there is no guarantee action or otherwise, but that those on board were allowed to go.

LITERACY TEST LAW FOR THE IMMIGRANTS

Washington, June 12.—The Burnett-Dillingham immigration bill, proposing a literacy test and drastic changes in the present immigration laws, will be reintroduced tomorrow by Representative Burnett, of Alabama. Mr. Burnett said a poll of the house shows that it stands nearly two to one in favor of an immigration restriction measure.

The senate passed this bill over President Taft's veto in the last congress, but the house failed to do so by a narrow margin.

The literacy test clause of the measure would exclude immigrants over 16 years of age to be able to read English or some European language or dialect. Exceptions would provide for the immediate families of American citizens. Persons who are ineligible for naturalization except those who might come in under existing treaties would be barred.

SURRENDER OR DEATH FOR COMPETITORS

Boston, June 12.—"We always try to buy out competitors, and if they don't sell we crush them."

This statement was attributed to William Barbour, vice president of the United Shoe Machinery company, by James N. Darragh, of New York, a witness for the government, today in the dissolution proceedings against the company. Darragh declared the statement of Barbour was a threat made to him for the purpose of effecting a sale of the Standard Shoe Machinery company of Boston, with which he then was connected.

On refusing to sell, witness said Mr. Barbour made the statement about crushing competitors.

The witness testified that he declined to sell and that later the company went into the hands of a receiver.

"COLOR BLIND" SQUAD FOR CHICAGO POLICE

Chicago, June 12.—The police department has a "color blind squad." It was selected yesterday at the civil service examinations for second-class detective sergeants when 2 per cent of the policemen failed to qualify in colors.

One policeman picked four green tassels and a brown one to match a yellow tassel. Another selected two pink tassels, one lavender and one blue and insisted they all were the same color.

The applicants were rejected on the ground that their "color blindness or color ignorance" might be the cause of losing cases. They were sent home to study.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT GOING TO ARGENTINA

Buenos Ayres, Argentina, June 12.—It was announced here today that Theodore Roosevelt is coming to Argentina to lecture on the progress of the United States.

New York, June 12.—Colonel Roosevelt's private secretary today confirmed the report that the colonel contemplates a trip to Argentina but added that the details had not been settled. Present plans calls for his departure this fall.

Mrs. C. L. McHugh.

Mrs. C. L. McHugh, aged 46, died at her resident on East Point avenue, at 10:15 o'clock last night. She is survived by her husband, seven boys and four girls. The funeral services will be held in Fellic Chapel Methodist church at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Interment will follow at East Point cemetery.

Equal Suffrage Banquet.

Springfield, Ill., June 12.—All members of the Illinois legislature received invitations today to a banquet to be given "in celebration of the passage of the first equal suffrage bill east of the Mississippi river." The banquet is to be given by the Illinois Equal Suffrage association tomorrow evening. The invitation list included members of the legislature who voted against the bill.

ATLANTA ALUMNI OF THE UNIVERSITY GOING TO ATHENS

Men who took a prominent part at the University of Georgia in both school work and in athletics will be among those who attend the reunion of the class of 1908. Numbers of Atlanta alumni of the university have already announced their intention of going, and there will be others from scattering points over the country.

On Friday night they will attend the performance of the Thalian Dramatic club; on Saturday afternoon a baseball game between the alumni and the varsity team, and Saturday night a dance. Going to church, and much talk over their college days will take up Sunday, and on Monday the class dinner will be held at the Georgian hotel.

"Alumni Day" will be celebrated on Tuesday, when all of the former students who are present will attend the annual meeting and luncheon. At this time Thomas W. Connally, of Atlanta, a graduate of the law school, will outline his plan for an alumni bureau in Atlanta to distribute literature, edit a publication and compile lists of alumni with their correct addresses so that the university may keep in touch with its former students.

DESPITE THEIR WEALTH THEY KILLED SELVES

Zurich, Switzerland, June 12.—Eugene Maggi and his wife believed to be the wealthiest persons in Switzerland, committed suicide today, their act being actuated by sheer lack of interest in life.

Eugene Maggi was only 41 years old and his wife 35. The joint estates of the man and wife are estimated some time ago at $10,000,000. While quite recently Maggi inherited the income from a number of extensive factories. The couple had been married a number of years, but a childless union brought disappointment to both. Last night they retired to their bedroom in their villa on the shore of the lake and were found dead in the morning.

Augene Maggi was the owner of extensive flour mills in Zurich and other parts of Switzerland and had other widespread interests. His wife was the daughter of his dead cousin, Julius Maggi, who was the founder of a great preserved foods and milk business known throughout the European continent. Julius Maggi left an immense fortune.

ELECTRIC BOLT STARTS LITTLE BOY TO WALKING

New York, June 12.—That Thomas William Brown, Jr., is walking this week for the first time in his life, although he is over 4 years old, is credited by his parents to a bolt of lightning which struck near their home at Jamaica, Long Island, last Saturday. The little boy had always had a pair of very normal legs, but no amount of coaxing would induce him to use them. During Saturday's storm he sat by the window in the grocery store when lightning struck nearby and a deafening crash of thunder came. Mrs. Brown was almost hysterical with fright, and then with joy, when she saw her little boy running around the store for the first time.

22-STORY CLUBHOUSE PLANNED BY YALE MEN

New York, June 12.—The Yale club today completed negotiations for the lease of a lot opposite the Grand Central station on which will be erected a twenty-two-story clubhouse. The new building will be one of the finest and largest of its kind in the city, and represents an investment of nearly $1,000,000. The lot, which is 90 by 100 feet, was leased for a period of twenty-one years.

FAMINE THREATENED BY CONGRESS DELAY

Washington, June 12.—Famine, with only seal meat to keep off starvation, threatens the people of the Pribilof Islands, Alaska, as a result of congress' delay in passing the sundry civil bill, the department of commerce announced tonight. There are food supplies on the island for but a month longer, and until funds are provided the department can send no more. Even if a vessel sailed from San Francisco at once it could not arrive before July 6.

The sundry civil bill, vetoed at the last session of congress because of a provision exempting labor and farmers' organizations from prosecution with funds appropriated in it, is now in conference between the house and senate with no prospect for early disposition. It contains an appropriation of $75,000 for the Alaska fisheries service, funds for which have been completely exhausted, it was announced today. The commerce department describes the situation as grave. Not only will the government officers and employes die as well as natives have to eat seal meat to live, unless relief is afforded quickly, but the government's measures for the protection of the seal herds and salmon industry of the islands will be seriously interfered with.

Unless a vessel reaches the islands by July 10, the census of the seal herds contemplated by the treaty with Japan, Russia and Great Britain cannot be taken. After that date the seal harems begin to break up and an accurate count will be impossible. The salmon agents and fur wardens also are practically marking time in enforcing the laws, because of the lack of funds.

GARRISON SPEAKS TO WEST POINT CADETS

West Point, N. Y., June 12.—West Point's class of 1913—ninety-two Americans and one Cuban—was graduated today.

Secretary of War Garrison pledged the young officers the same sympathy from the head of the war department as he urged them to extend to the enlisted men. Constant warfare, he declared, should ever be waged against the baser qualities of mankind.

"Life is no dress parade," Secretary Garrison said. "Military life holds few occasions of brilliancy and character. You will have great responsibility in dealing with the men under you. In a large way you are their providence. They look to you for justice, patience, tolerance and wisdom. If you carefully watch and train yourself, you will not fail them in any of these."

HE LOST HIS FORTUNE TRYING TO SAVE SON

Chicago, June 12.—Declaring that he had lost nearly everything he had trying to keep his son out of jail during the last few years, Philip Kaufman today came to the end of his rope and asked the arrest of his offspring, Allen J. Kaufman.

The embezzled $2,500 from the Chicago firm he was working for, said the father, "and I made that good. He got $2,500 from Rosher, N. Y., and stole $2,500 which I restored. Incidentally he kept forging my name to checks. In the meantime my assets have aggregated $3,000 and now all my possessions are gone and my wife is in the east trying to borrow money for me."

KILLING MOTHER-IN-LAW CHARGED TO ACTOR

Leavenworth, Kan., June 12.—Walter Barnes, alias Frank Gordon, a vaudeville performer, was arrested as he stepped from the federal prison today on a charge of killing Mary D. Servess, his mother-in-law. The shooting took place in Chicago in January, 1910. Barnes and his wife later was arrested in Guthrie, Okla., and convicted on a forgery charge.

Advertising drives the wheels of trade

For instance:

The other day we entered a store. Advertising was responsible. It appealed to us and we needed the goods described.

We entered. No one in the front. We hemmed a bit, rapped on a show case and waited. Still no one came to ask our wants. We left.

There were men in the rear of the store. We saw 'em. But they didn't seem to want our trade. No doubt they were "cussin' dull times." That's bad business—to invite a man to visit your store and then let him cool his heels until you get ready to serve him.

Yet many a merchant does just that thing. Then, when the sheriff comes around with the notice and someone sticks a red flag in front of his door and clangs a bell, he's sore. Blames it all on advertising. Says he's worked like a slave trying to make a success of things but luck doesn't seem to come his way.

You've got to back up your advertising to make it pay. Good, clean-cut ads in The Constitution will put the people in your store. But you shouldn't expect them to wait on themselves. Leave nothing undone to serve your customers promptly and courteously and the cashier at the corner bank will write more often in that little brown book of yours.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL OF THE MARKETS

NEW HIGH RECORDS FOR NEW CROP COTTON

Covering and Foreign Buying Main Factors in the Advance.

New York, June 12.—The cotton market made new high records for the movement on new crop months during today's trading, as a result of renewed covering and reports of a better trade demand. The close was steady and 9 to 13 points net higher.

The market opened steady at a decline of 2 to 4 points, in response to lower Liverpool features, a more favorable weather map and scattered selling, which was probably encouraged also by a belief that the action of prices yesterday had reflected a considerable reduction in the scattering short interest. If such was developed, however, that these factors were not stimulating any aggressive pressure, an d the market firmed up on renewed covering, foreign buying of both old and early new crop deliveries, reports of a better spot demand and a bullish view of probable modifications of textile duties in the proposed tariff.

Uptown and Wall street houses became active buyers as prices moved higher, and stop orders were uncovered, as a result of which the general list showed net gains of from 20 to 24 points during the early afternoon. It was estimated that short covering to the extent of 100,000 bales were covered on this advance, and after the execution of the stop orders offerings became more general. Prices sagged off several points from the best in consequence, although demand continued active enough to give the market a steady undertone at the close.

The detailed weather reports, showing continued low night temperatures, probably contributed to the advance, while rather a more optimistic view prevailed as to the outlook for money rates, owing to an announcement from Washington that emergency currency would be issued should it be necessary. Big spot sales in the Liverpool market tended to offset the relatively easy showing of futures.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, June 12.—Cotton stood at the advance through nearly the entire session today. The demand for cotton on the spot was good and the supply limited. Buying was chiefly for long account although some trade interests were also in evidence and was based chiefly on reports of a better demand for goods and the continued large trading on the spot in the Liverpool market. To some extent, however, the buying was influenced by the prevailing cold weather in the cotton region and to the extent that there was a little more buying at the new crop months in the American markets. Offerings were not large enough in volume to be a factor in the day's advance.

On the opening the tone was steady and prices 1 to 3 points higher, with the buying fairly active, as due, but the weather map was called fairly favorable and brought out only a few sellers. Later, however, a detailed weather report showed that temperatures in the belt were still too low for cotton and that the early sellers came back their notion. First prices were the lowest of the day. The market showed steadiness and in the afternoon session prices were 11@20 points higher, especially on the distant months. The week ended at the day, the market became dull and closed steady at the net advance of 11 to 12 points.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, June 12.—Owing to more favorable weather in the south, the local market opened at a few points decline today, but subsequently advanced some twenty points when Liverpool appeared in a large buyer of the new crop months, while at the same time reporting and active spot demand. The steady buying of July and August here refected the strength of the spot situation and because of this demand for the old crop at advancing prices, selling is becoming less free in the new crop, as the feeling prevails on all grounds that the new crop must be a large one to satisfy requirements of eleven cents.

New York, June 12.—The cotton market again showed a little strength during the early months and showed a net advance of 12 points. Some big Wall street shorts started in cover, but quit buying when they saw that they were forcing the bears up too fast. There has been so much short selling that the shorts cannot cover in a day or a week and the foreign mills stand ready to buy on any decline. The position of staple looks very good.

Liverpool is due to come 3¼ to 4 points.

WHEAT WAS STRONG ON LIBERAL BUYING

Market Closed at an Advance of Three-Eighths to One Cent.

Chicago, June 12.—Although it was generally conceded that dry weather damage northwest was more prospective than otherwise, bullish sentiment regarding wheat became rampant today. The market closed strong at an advance of 3-8c to 7-8c@1c net. Corn finished ¼-2c to 7-8c up and oats with a gain of 3-4@7-8@1-8c. The outcome in provisions varied from last night's level to an increased cost of 2 1-2@5c.

New investors bought wheat freely, notwithstanding that midway in the session some of the larger longs took profits and brought about temporarily a substantial reaction. Other influences were almost lost sight of, owing to the overwhelming interest attaching to field advices from the spring crop belt. The effect of greater confidence in the securities market, however, counted somewhat ,and so also did reports from Russia.

Temperatures ranging up to 100 degrees in Canadian northwest were supplemented by dispatches from this side of the boundary that hot winds and sultry conditions had suddenly followed recent frosts and that the result could not help but be unfavorable to the crop. Active milling demand was sustained buoyancy to prices in transactions near the close.

Export clearances of wheat and flour equaled 1,000,000 bushels. Primary receipts of wheat were $66,000 bushels, against a year ago 308,000 bushels.

Remarkable buying of corn lifted active months into the sixties. Parts of Illinois and Ohio complained of injury from dry weather succeeding frosts.

In oats, the main feature was the lively purchasing for country houses. There was no indication that the secretary will do all in his power to avert such conditions, was definitely helpful to the market.

While few time loans were placed that market continuing to be merely nominal, heavy purchases of mercantile paper were reported by large banks. One institution took up $7,000,000 of prime mercantile paper at 6 per cent. This was interpreted as an indication of increased confidence on the part of large financial interests in the outlook.

Union Pacific's plan to trade its Southern Pacific stock for Pennsylvania holdings of Baltimore and Ohio apparently opened a way for disposing of a substantial part of the Harriman $126,000,000 of Southern Pacific, and a large factor in the strength of the Harriman stocks.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,900,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, June 12.—Many factors contributed to the recovery in our market today. Liverpool's unexpected strength, the approach to an arbitration of all the questions relating to the Balkan powers. The latter must mean a movement to reinvest in financial and commercial lines the vast amount of capital in Europe awaiting advance of the fear of war. Locally the improvement in the stock exchange caused many Wall street traders to cover. Then the July position, with the small stock of cotton available and the large short interest exerted its influence. Liverpool bought these July futures and later sold them, probably to be shipped at a profit or sold here to the shorts at a profit; no one knows. But above all is the general belief that with peace we will need a large crop and it is generally believed that spinners hold small stocks and retailers very small stocks of cotton goods.

The county commissioners on Thursday voted for the repairing of the pavement on Peachtree road from Fifteenth street to Buckhead. This action will mean the repaving of the entire distance of 4 miles of this road by 1914.

SWIFT PROGRESS ON REVISION BILL

Tariff Measure Will Be Reported to Senate Next Week. Free Wool and Free Sugar Approved by Committee.

Washington, June 2.—The democratic "steering committee" of the senate was called into action late today to clear the way in that body for the tariff revision bill. As a result of the meeting and of reports received from the finance committee, members of the "steering committee" said tonight they believed the tariff bill would get back into the senate before the end of next week.

Senator Kern called the party managers together after reports had become general that the democratic tariff caucus would have to be postponed until the senate's West Virginia coal strike investigation had been completed. It was determined to attempt to secure an agreement between the senate and house on the sundry civil bill, now in dispute, to end Senator Jones' single handed filibuster, which has delayed senate business for over a week, and to remove all other obstacles to early action on the tariff.

Measure in Senate Next Week.

The "steering committee" was informed by Senator Thomas, who is also a member of the finance committee, that the tariff bill could be completed and returned to the senate next week. Senator Other members of the finance committee, however, expressed doubt tonight as to probability of this being accomplished.

Recommendations were made early in the day by several democrats prominently identified with the administration forces that the senate caucus be deferred until Senators Swanson, Shields and Martine had returned from their work with the investigating committee in West Virginia. The narrow margin by which the administration forces control the senate in support of the president's wool and sugar program makes it necessary, in their opinion, to have all democrats present at the caucus and it is possible that the democratic members of the committee will be called from West Virginia to participate in the caucus. It is proposed that the caucus shall be a binding one, pledging every senator to vote for the bill as approved.

Free Sugar and Free Wool.

Free sugar in three years and free wool, the most troublesome schedules of the tariff confronting the party, advanced another stage today without suffering alteration, when the democratic members of the finance committee agreed there was they passed the house. These schedules are now up to the democratic caucus. That is another reason why the caucus will not be called until all the democrats are present because the caucus vote on sugar and wool bill and all controversy as to whether President Wilson's tariff policy is to receive the party support. The party leaders anticipate that not more than three senators will refuse to support the schedules and that the bill can be passed with the vote of the vice president.

John Sharp Williams, chairman of the subcommittee in charge of the administrative features of the Underwood bill, stared majority members of the finance committee today when he proposed that a commission be appointed to study the entire question of tariff administration and that meanwhile the administrative provisions of the Payne-Aldrich law be permitted to stand a the new democratic bill.

To Continue Work.

The suggestion did not meet with approval of the committee members and Senator Williams and his colleagues on the subcommittee, Senators Shively and Gore, were instructed to continue their work of revising the administrative provisions of the Underwood bill.

The subcommittee has encountered difficulties with the provisions in the Underwood bill requiring foreign manufacturers to submit their books in Washington for dutiable valuations, and the provisions, designed by the ways and means committee to prevent undervaluation. The committee also has had trouble in endeavoring to modify the proposed amendment which would give the secretary of the treasury authority to proclaim general import values.

After many weeks of studying these questions Senator Williams had concluded it would be wise to turn over the whole tariff administrative section to a commission to consist of three senators, an officer of the customs division of the treasury and an official of the department of justice familiar with custom affairs. The finance committee majority, however, determined that the committee itself should work out the problems at once. The subcommittee will make another report tomorrow.

AMERICAN MEAT FIRMS WILL NOT BE MOLESTED

Buenos Aires, Argentina, June 13.—The American meat packers companies operating in Argentina are not considered a "trust" by the Argentine government.

The minister of agriculture today, replying to a note sent to the government by one of the leading Anglo-Argentine chilled beef companies, declaring that if the present onerous situation should continue they would close down, said:

"After investigating the situation, the government considers that it is not called upon to modify the existing regime of liberty, which permits the development of industry in Argentina. If, however, new facts should later prove that the intentions of the American companies are to develop a combination disadvantageous to the country, we shall adopt the necessary measures to prevent such an occurrence."

MEREDITH NICHOLSON MINISTER TO PORTUGAL

Washington, June 12.—Meredith Nicholson, the Indiana novelist, probably will be minister to Portugal. Although there have been some protests from Indiana democrats to the effect that Mr. Nicholson was not a "consistent democrat" it was said today that the Portuguese government was being consulted as to his acceptability.

Colonel Thomas H. Byrch, of New Jersey, slated for minister to Persia, conferred with President Wilson and Secretary Bryan today.

CONTRACTOR ACCUSES JUSTICE COHALAN

New York, June 12.—Supreme court Justice Daniel F. Cohalan notified the Bar association this afternoon that he had forwarded to Governor Sulzer, "for such action as may be proper at the special session of the legislature, which convenes next Monday," the charges made against him by John A. Connolly, a contractor. The justice also asked that the Bar association had no jurisdiction in the matter. Connolly alleged that for a consideration of 25 per cent of the profits, Cohalan, before he became a supreme court justice, obtained certain city contracts for the Victor Heating company, of which Connolly was the head. The amount of money Connolly alleges he paid Cohalan approximates $4,000. These charges Justice Cohalan has denied.

Justice Cohalan was notified by the Bar association that its grievance committee had been requested to investigate the charges and was about to do so.

JOURNALISM SCHOOLS KNOCKED BY MOORE

St. Louis, June 12.—Paul Elmore Moore, edtor of The Nation, deprecated teaching journalism in colleges in an address at the commencement exercises of Washington university here today. Secretary of Agriculture Houston, chancellor of the university, on leave of absence, presided.

"These schools of journalism have been established in several places," Mr. Moore said, "but happily not yet at Washington university. Newspaper men will tell you that the only way to obtain the knowledge necessary to making a newspaper is to acquire it in a newspaper office. Such schools take up time which the student might better devote to general education."

Dramatic Entertainment.

A literary and dramatic entertainment for the benefit of the Yiddish Magazine, "Das Neue Leben," was staged at the Jewish Educational alliance Thursday evening, under the auspices of the National Workmen's alliance. The program included readings, recitations and a playlet by Sholem Aleychem.

MORO REBELS ROUTED BY AMERICAN TROOPS

Six American Soldiers Killed and One Wounded—Stubborn Fight by Moros.

Manila, June 13.—The entrenchments of the rebellious Moros in Jolo have been stormed by the American troops. The Americans lost six men killed.

The killed were two privates of company M, eighth United States infantry, three members of the 51st company of scouts and one member of the 29th company of scouts. Lieutenant Edwin H. Rackley was wounded in the leg.

The casualties are regarded as light in view of the stubborn resistance put up by the Moros.

The attacking forces had been made up unusually strong as a precaution, there being in addition to the company of regular infantry, a troop of cavalry, seven companies of scouts, two companies of constabulary, with a battery of four mountain guns and a machine gun platoon.

Although there remains one point still occupied in the mountain the mountain guns will be in a position to shell it. Brigadier General John G. Pershing, commander of the department of Mindnao, who led the forces, declares he will continue operations in Jolo until the tribesmen's guns have been taken and the island is peaceful.

War Department Disturbed.

Washington, June 12.—General Wood has cabled to Major General Bell, commander of the Philippine division, for an immediate report upon the operations Brigadier General Pershing is conducting against the Moros in the Jolo archipelago. The war department knows nothing or the details of the operations. The distance from Zamboanga, the Jolo capital, to Manila is great and communications so uncertain that reports from the scene are very meager.

The general staff is considerably disturbed by the mention of the Sultan of Jolo as leading the hostile Moros for it had been understood he had thrown his influence with the Americans.

AT THE THEATERS.

"The Duke of Durham."

(At the Bijou.)

The Bijou announces for next week one of its strongest attractions in the engagement of the merry, up-to-date musical comedy, "The Duke of Durham." This attraction features the popular German singing comedian, Lon L. Shean; the American Comedy Four, Callahan and Klein in song, dance and chatter, and Smith and Pollock, tango dancers. There will be some fifteen musical numbers in which a dainty chorus of young girls will take part, and elaborate scenic and light effects. "The Duke of Durham" has been accorded first place amongst the tabloids that have played over the circuit.

"Quo Vadis."

(At the Grand.)

Seats were put on sale Thursday at the Grand box office for the engagement of George Kleine's wonderful photo-play, "Quo Vadis," feature film that is to be at the big theater all the week starting on Monday.

There are eight reels of imported pictures in "Quo Vadis," more than 10,000 feet of imported film, that was taken by the famous Cines people in Rome, after eighteen months of terrific hard work and the expenditure of a fortune in properties, effects and money.

The sensation has passed its one-hundredth performance at the Astor theater in New York city and is playing to crowded houses in Chicago and Philadelphia.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

It is generally agreed that the Forsyth is offering a bill this week far superior to any combination of Keith features that have been offered this season. It does appear that the shows at the busy theater have gotten better as the summer progresses, and indications point to a better and stronger grade of attractions as the time goes along reaching the opening of the new season just ten weeks off. There is much of a comedy value to this bill: Johnny and Mae Burke, in the piano playing nonsense, Travato, the eccentric violinist, and Chick Sale, the character change comedian, have all registered hits, and the tremendous novelty of the Athletic Girls' act has certainly been a powerful drawing card.

The bill for next week promises to be one of the strongest and most inviting of the season. It will be headed by Bud Fisher.

HE MUST GET TO PARIS TO WIN $10,000 WAGER

New York, June 12.—Louis Grandjean, who declares that he will win a $10,000 wager if he arrives in Paris by July 15, is hoping to get the immigration authorities to deport him. Ten years ago he says, he left Paris to win the $10,000 stake put up at the Jockey club there that before July 15 1913, he could not visit every country in the world, always working his way, never being subsidized or accepting charity.

Penniless and hungry yesterday he applied to the police for his arrest on a charge of vagrancy, but when he found that he might be sentenced to the workhouse for six months, he saw it would interfere with his getting to Paris on time, so he pleaded not guilty and was released. He took the advice of the police and will seek to be deported.

Grandjean passed through New York in 1908 and called upon Mayor McClellan at the time. Since then, he says, he has been all through this country, Canada, Japan, Australia, the Philippines, Panama and South America.
